NAZI SLAIN; POLES FEAR COUP

HITLER MAKES ITALO-GERMAN PACT AIRTIGHT

Tribune Gets Full Outline of Treaty.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 21.—While Italy and Germany are celebrating their military alliance in ceremonies of great splendor, THE TRIBUNE today succeeded in obtaining details of the new German-Italian pact. It represents an iron bound military treaty that ties Italy and Germany more closely together than any other pact in existence in Europe.

The pact, which will be signed tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, is a brief document with seven clauses.

The first paragraph specifies that the alliance is to last "for a first period of ten years."

The second paragraph provides that the pact comes into force on the day of signature—that is to say tomorrow noon.

Bound to Aid Each Other.

The third paragraph stipulates that it is an unconditional agreement compelling each partner to come to the aid of the other as soon as one of them is involved in war.

Paragraph four specifies that consultations between the partners in case of conflict are to be purely military. The question of guilt or responsibility for a conflict is not to be discussed under any condition.

Since the Germans feared the Italians might abandon them in case of war the way they did in 1915 when they abandoned the triple alliance and joined the entente, the Germans wanted an extra guarantee of loyalty from their axis partner. For this purpose the fifth paragraph of the pact provides that neither of the partners may sign a separate peace.

Cannot Remain Neutral.

According to paragraph six, neither partner may remain neutral in case the other is involved in war.

The seventh paragraph provides that the pact shall be renewed automatically after ten years.

The text as it will be signed goes much further than it was first planned when Count Galeazzo Ciano and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Italian and German foreign ministers, conferred in Milan, Italy, May 6 and 7.

Since then the British-Turkish mutual assistance pact was signed and aroused a storm of fury in German official circles. Reichsfuehrer Hitler insisted that the British-Turkish treaty endangered Germany and Italy to such an extent that they must take especially great precautions "not to allow the democracies to separate them because only through closest coöperation will the axis powers be able to surmount the dangers confronting them."

Outline Military Help.

Supplementary pacts will be signed outlining the details of military cooperation between the two countries. The Germans claim that the supreme command will be entrusted to their officers. Italians state that a supplementary pact calls for military, naval, and air coöperation. Comments in political circles are that the slogan of Germany, "One Reich, One Nation, One Fuehrer," now also embraces Italy.

Count Ciano arrived here today. He led a delegation of fifty Italian officers and officials who appeared in gala uniforms to attend the banquet Hitler gave in their honor in the marble terraced halls of his chancellery. Some of the Italian officers carried so many decorations with sashes dangling down their sides that they seemed to have difficulty in walking.

Ciano Wears White Uniform.

As Count Ciano, resplendent in a white uniform, and his staff were leaving their hotel, Ciano espied Alexander Kirk, American chargé d'affaires, who was in Rome several years ago, and greeted him with enthusiasm. While his aids fidgeted, fearing he might be late for the state banquet, Ciano talked with Kirk. He ignored the signals of his aids. The Italians had to rush at top speed to reach the chancellery in time.

Great precautions were taken to prevent any possible attempt on the life of Ciano. The street near his hotel was packed with police and trafic was detoured in another direction.

DANZIG STIRRED; MOB BESIEGES POLISH AGENTS

Indemnity Asked by Free City's Senate.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, May 21.—Observers of the European crisis are speculating here tonight as to whether the long expected German movement for the return of the Free City of Danzig to the reich began late Saturday night in an incident in which a German lost his life.

The incident occurred on the border between East Prussia and Danzig. The Nazi who was shot and killed by a Pole was Gustav Greubner, 43 years old, a butcher.

An angry mob attempted to obtain revenge for the slaying this afternoon. The mob surrounded a building in Pieckel where Polish customs inspectors live. The inspectors telephoned to Danzig for help.

German Crowd Disperses.

"The mob is shouting that the killing must be paid for in blood," they said.

Two hours later the crowd dispersed with no damage being done, according to both Polish and Danzig officials.

Pieckel is located on the Vistula river in the tip of the triangle where Danzig, Polish, and East Prussian boundaries are joined.

Previously the Danzig senate had demanded that Poland pay damages for the killing of the Danzig German and make a public apology.

Polish Version of Story.

Here is the Polish version of the incident:

An excited crowd of Germans led by young Nazis in brown shirt uniforms on Saturday night marched from Malburg, East Prussia, crossed the river Nogat, which marks the boundary between East Prussia and Danzig territory, and attacked the first customs house in their path.

This was at the village of Kalthof in Danzig territory and was occupied by Polish officials who have control over the customs of the free city.

Danzig police refused to protect the customs officials. After resistance the officials abandoned the post—not before being roughly handled by the mob. The mob smashed the customs house to bits.

Police Refuse to Help.

On hearing of these events Tadeus Perkowski, Polish assistant commissioner general to Danzig, asked for police assistance to restore order which again was refused. Proceeding to the spot to investigate, Perkowski's car was surrounded by Nazis who threatened the official and the driver of the car. The latter, after firing several warning shots into the air, shot into the crowd and killed the German. The shooting, according to the Polish version, was in self-defense.

Marion Chodacki, the Polish commissioner general to Danzig, protested to the Danzig senate against the conduct of the police. Political circles in Warsaw regarded the incident as a case of "obvious provocation."

The Danzig Germans' version of the story is considerably different. As heard in Warsaw, the Germans maintained that the raiding party which

New Citizens Vow Fealty in Colorful Fete

Manitowoc, Wis., May 21.—[Special.]—The 700 young men and women of Manitowoc county who reached the age of 21 during the last twelve months assumed the duties of full citizenship today in solemn ceremonies shared by the community.

It was the first revival in the United States of the tribal ritual that has celebrated the transition from youth to manhood since the most primitive times. Its purpose was to emphasize the responsibilities attached to the rights and privileges of citizenship.

It was the first celebration of Citizenship day, a program already adopted by a number of Wisconsin counties, and expected to spread throughout the country.

Day-Long Ceremonies.

The final welcoming of the new voters into the ranks of citizenship took place on the flagstone landing in front of Lincoln High school, overlooking Lake Michigan, after a day of ceremonies which began with special services in all churches. The climax of the high school ceremony was the repetition by the entire class of the constitutional oath, administered by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry of the Wisconsin Supreme court.

Preparatory to administering the solemn oath, the justice emphasized the importance ritual always has borne in impressing the novice with the seriousness of the new position he or she was assuming.

Compared with Coronation.

"The coronation of King George VI. of England, two years ago, is an example of the great importance attached by peoples to induction into office of a new sovereign," said Chief Justice Rosenberry.

"In this country the sovereign power is exercised by the people—not by king, emperor or potentate. At the next election you will, by your ballot, choose the individuals who are to act for you in the exercise of so much of the sovereign or supreme power as the people have vested in their officers—legislative, executive, and judicial.

"The principal purpose and object of this preparation for citizenship day is to enable you to exercise this great power wisely and to prepare you to participate as citizens, and, if chosen as officers, to participate in the government of your country."

"I do solemnly swear," the new voters, hands uplifted, intoned after the chief justice, "that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Wisconsin and the laws enacted pursuant thereto, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of a citizen of the state of Wisconsin to the best of my ability, so help me God."

Jerome A. Mahlberg, youthful chairman of the 1939 New Voters' association, replied to Justice Rosenberry's remarks, pledging the new citizens to put their best efforts into serving their country. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, told the new citizens that it is the youth of America who eventually will decide whether our complex problems can be solved by a democratic process which preserves freedom.

BOLT KILLS CHICAGOAN AS CITY IS DRENCHED BY HEAVY RAINSTORM

A heavy thunderstorm drenched Chicago yesterday afternoon, causing one death and considerable damage. Edward Franklin, 40 years old, 2610 West 99th street, Evergreen Park, was killed by lightning while repairing a chimney at his home.

The rain was particularly hard in the west and northwest sections of the city, but also made itself felt along the lake. One sloop, the "Swish," was overturned a mile off Berwyn avenue. Coast guards rescued its occupants, H. R. Lotsch, 25, of 3006 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette, and an unidentified companion.

Railroad underpasses in the Warren avenue district were flooded, trapping some motorists and forcing others to make long detours. The County hospital was flooded, but eighteen pumps soon cleared the water. Hospital operations were not disturbed. Along Archer avenue power wires were knocked down.

PLANE HITS LICK OBSERVATORY; 2 ARMY MEN KILLED

San Jose, Cal., May 21.—(AP)—Lost in thick fog, an army airplane cruising at 100 miles an hour, crashed into the Lick observatory on Mount Hamilton tonight, killing the pilot and a passenger.

The victims were Lieut. R. F. Lorenz, 25 years old, the pilot, and Private W. E. Scott, the only passenger, both of March field, Riverside, Cal.

The plane struck the brick administration building which rests atop the 4,209 foot peak. It crashed about 20 feet below the roof of the building which connects the two telescope towers of the observatory, wrecking offices and archives containing photographic plates and other records which had been collected for thirty years.

No one was in the building when the plane crashed.

Chicago Plane Falls; 2 Killed, 5 Are Injured

C. J. Gardiner, a radio engineer, his wife, and their daughter, Carol, 4 years old, left their apartment at 8602 South Paulina street early yesterday to board a private plane for California at the Chicago airport. "I'm jittery," he told his wife. Before leaving his home he turned over what seemed to be a packet of insurance policies in care of a neighbor. "In case anything happens," he explained.

Arrow locates Coalville, Utah.

Last night Gardiner was dead. His fears had been tragically fulfilled. He was killed just before dark when the private plane crashed in the treacherous Wasatch mountains forty miles east of Salt Lake City, Utah, and not far from Coalville. William R. Duck, the pilot, also was killed. Mrs. Gardiner and a friend, Mrs. Ralph T. Sullivan, of 117 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, were seriously injured.

Three Escape with Bruises.

Also in the crash, but only bruised, were little Carol Gardiner, Mrs. Duck, wife of the pilot, and Mr. Sullivan, husband of Mrs. Sullivan and a radio manufacturing company official.

The cause of the accident was not learned. The ship was flying at an altitude of 10,000 feet when Pilot Duck decided to make a forced landing. The plane bounced into a clump of trees and sheared a wing.

Duck, who operated a flying service in Oakland, Cal., had just purchased the plane from the American Airlines. It was a Stinson eight seater with three motors. It was of a type not used on major runs in three years, but was tested and approved before the sale by government inspectors. Duck took possession of the craft during the week-end. His wife was with him.

Invites Friends on Trip.

Pilot Duck invited Gardiner, a friend, to accompany him to Oakland, where Gardiner's parents live. Gardiner invited the Sullivans, close friends. The seven—the two Ducks, the three Gardiners, and the two Sullivans—took off shortly before 5 a. m.

Gardiner's premonition and his admission that he had the "jitters" were known to his neighbors. He particularly was worried over taking Carol on the trip. The packet of supposed insurance papers was given for safe keeping to Maurice Elam. It was addressed to Milton A. Brown, a lawyer.

G.O.P. PUSHES WAR ON BIG SPENDING; WIN N. Y. VICTORY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] called upon the United States tonight to get off the poorhouse route of New Deal spending. He warned that the administration is going into debt at the rate of $7,000 a minute.

The senator made his plea as Republican leaders here were celebrating an impressive Republican achievement.

That achievement was slashing the New York state budget by $23,602,000.

The Republicans, in control of both New York legislative houses for the first time since 1932, substituted economy for the New Deal spending policies of the state's Democratic administration.

May Balance N. Y. Budget.

When the legislature adjourned last night, the Republicans had bright prospects of a balanced budget, with a substantial surplus, instead of the heavy deficit Democratic Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's budget would have meant.

The Republican economy plan was steered through the legislature by Abbott Low Moffatt of New York City, chairman of the assembly ways and means committee. It scaled down Gov. Lehman's spending program item by item.

Moffatt's analysis showed the governor's program would have called for the record expenditure of $410,304,000, and entailed a deficit of $622,000 for the fiscal period ending July 1, 1940. The economy plan of the Republicans is expected to result in a surplus of $616,000.

Party leaders here believe this accomplishment in the nation's wealthiest and most populous state shows what the Republicans can do nationally.

National Economy Plea.

Senator Vandenberg made his plea for national economy in a radio forum opening National Debt week, in which the Republicans hope to awaken the nation to the peril of increasing the 40 billion dollar national debt.

Vandenberg recalled that in the 1932 presidential campaign President Roosevelt said, "Any government, like any family, can for a year spend a little more than it earns; but you and I know that a continuation of that habit leads to the poorhouse."

Emphasizing that the national debt has doubled since the inauguration of the New Deal, Senator Vandenberg said that the administration had continued the habit that leads to the poorhouse for six uninterrupted years.

"And now, attempting to make a virtue of necessity, we are engaged in an amazing effort, deliberately and consciously to stretch an annual income of 60 billion dollars into 80 billion dollars by spending the difference.

Chooses Poorhouse Route.

"This administration deliberately has chosen what the President himself described as the poorhouse route. . . . It is the folly of the ages. It either leads to bankruptcy or the equally suicidal jeopardy of an inflation which will destroy the purchasing power of our money."

Demanding that the nation "get off the skids before it is too late," he pointed out that the cost of all government in the United States has risen from $34 per family in 1913 to $540 per family today.

Spending and debt, he said, are the two reasons why the United States is not enjoying economic recovery.

SETTER DOUBLES AS RETRIEVER TO PICK HIS MASTER

Belleville, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—Robert Williams called him "Duke" and August Kaiser called him "Pat"—but the pert English setter threw the court into confusion yesterday by responding amiably to both names as the men argued its ownership.

Stumped, Justice of the Peace Walter Grossman was about to the point of keeping the dog himself.

Then Williams hid his hat under a stack of books and papers. The dog found it.

"Williams, take your dog," said the judge.

GRAFT LINKED WITH NEW DEAL SPENDING ORGY

Corruption Shown in Six Year Record.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.] — Congressional investigating committees and grand juries in several states are building up pyramids of evidence demonstrating that graft and political corruption accompany the spending of the New Deal.

A house committee is delving into the affairs of the Works Progress administration, which has spent more than six billions of public funds. Already investigators have uncovered much favoritism, waste, and dishonesty. Privately some members of both the Roosevelt big and little cabinets have confessed themselves appalled.

It has been charged, and not disproved, that the $525,000,000 Tennessee Valley authority has for years been riddled with graft; that corporations as well as Tennessee politicians have made immense profits in land and power deals.

Vote Buying and Graft.

Thirteen men, including three members of the cabinet of the former New Deal governor, George H. Earle, have been indicted in Pennsylvania for padding pay rolls, buying votes, and coercing state workers. In Minnesota a former state highway commissioner and his assistant have been convicted of conspiring with contractors and defrauding the state of large sums.

A jury in New York found a Tammany-Roosevelt wheelhorse guilty of taking protection money from policy racketeers. He is under sentence of four to eight years in prison.

Kansas City, alarmed by its reputation achieved under the sway of the Democratic boss, Tom Pendergast, has returned ninety indictments charging criminal connivance between racketeers and politicians. Pendergast himself is awaiting trial on a charge of defrauding the government of $443,550 in income taxes.

Example In High Places.

In their law breaking the state and local Democratic bosses have had the example of the top New Dealers to look to. The Democratic party in 1936 issued a souvenir handbook and later a yearbook autographed by the President. Salesmen clubbed business men into buying copies and advertising at exorbitant prices, the autographed books going at $250 each on the representation that they were "as good as a sheriff's badge in Washington." The income in this publishing deal was about a million dollars.

It has been disclosed in the WPA investigation that pay rolls were the highest in history just before election time in 1938. Last summer it was disclosed that 291 WPA workers were living in houses erected in Chicago by the Federal Housing authorities. The income and the cheap rent on the tax free houses kept the 291 loyal in their voting.

Last week investigators reported that supervisory jobs on the Chicago WPA increased as more than 15,500 workers of the lower grades were discharged. The congressional committee is now trying to force disclosure of all salaries of the organization exceeding $5,000.

The Berry Marble Scandal.

It is also looking into charges that millions of WPA dollars were spent in Tennessee to enhance the value of lands owned by prominent state politicians. Among those named as beneficiaries are former United States Senator George L. Berry, State Treasurer John Harton, and former State Controler Marshall Priest.

Berry's name was dragged long ago into the TVA scandals. Arthur E. Morgan, ousted head of the authority, charged that Berry bought marble lands with no other object than to sell them at a profit to TVA. He added that agents of Harcourt Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, now the big TVA bosses, tried to buy the lands at high prices even after they had been proved worthless.

Former Controler General McCarl asserted that TVA prior to 1935 dished out a million dollars in contracts with no regard to low bidders, and that it even paid $1,000 apiece for $200 cows. The investigators were also informed that one company made $527,000 in a sale of phosphate lands to the government at more than $1,000 an acre—and that TVA didn't need the lands. Low power rates granted the Aluminum Corporation of America are being investigated.

High Politicians Named.

Among the politicians indicted in Pennsylvania are David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman and former secretary of the commonwealth; Ralph M. Bashore, former secretary of labor and industry, and Roy E. Brownmiller, former secretary of highways. The alleged highway pay roll padding was estimated at $600,000. Some of the indicted men were charged with a conspiracy to control the bond business connected with state highway construction.

The Minnesotans convicted are Nels Elsberg, former state highway commissioner, and L. L. Allen. Both were allied with the Farmer-Labor party, whose leaders are Democratic New Dealers in all but name, and were ousted when the Republican administration of Gov. Harold L. Stassen went into office last fall. It was shown they had conspired to pay contractors $71,000 in false claims.

Roosevelt Supporters Convicted.

New York's cases have been particularly flagrant. James J. Hines, the convicted protector of racketeers, was chief patronage distributor for the Roosevelt-Farley machine and a welcome guest at the White House. He was one of the original supporters of Roosevelt for President. His first trial was abruptly ended by a Tammany judge, Ferdinand Pecora, on a technicality. In the second trial Charles S. Dewey, able young prosecutor and a Republican, won and Hines was sentenced.

The Brooklyn district attorney, Francis F. X. Geoghan, has been supplanted by a special prosecutor who is digging into politico-crime alliances. The prosecutor, John H. Amen, received the appointment only after strong pressure was brought on Gov. Lehman. Amen has promised that several judges as well as lesser personages will be charged with corrupt practices.

A federal grand jury in New York returned indictments on April 28 against two WPA officials and three WPA workers, all charged with selling jobs.

MANTON TO FACE JURY ON CHARGE OF BRIBE TAKING

New York, May 21.—[Special.]—Martin T. Manton, former tenth ranking jurist in the United States, goes on trial tomorrow morning before a federal jury. The former judge, an appointee of President Woodrow Wilson, is accused of accepting a total of $160,000 in bribes from litigants with cases pending before his court.

Manton resigned under fire as presiding justice of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York City, a court whose importance is ranked only after that of the United States Supreme court. He tendered his resignation shortly after District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had outlined the charges against him in a letter to Representative Hatton W. Sumners, chairman of the house judiciary committee, which initiates impeachment proceedings.

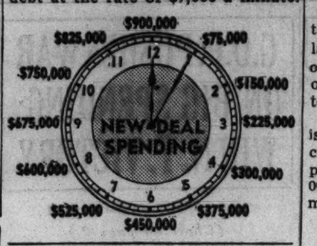
The clock above shows the federal income under the New Deal, which amounts to $40,000 every five minutes. Below is a clock on the New Deal spending, which amounts to $75,000 every five minutes. Thus the administration is going into debt at the rate of $7,000 a minute.



BANKHEAD SEES SINISTER FORCES AT WORK IN U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—Speaker Bankhead today warned those who are "spreading un-American doctrines in this country" that there are "very definite limitations to the benevolence of our guarantees of free speech and assembly."

He spoke at a massing of the colors ceremony at Washington cathedral, held annually in commemoration of the honored dead.

Bankhead told his audience there was "abundant evidence that we have sinister and mischievous forces and influences within our borders seeking with covert and sinister cunning to inject into the veins of our present political system the malignant views of alien and destructive doctrines and to incite rabid racial and religious hatreds."

Although he did not mention the Dies committee on un-American activities, Bankhead said that congress was "diligently diagnosing the diseased tissue of our body politic and would in due course enact adequate remedies for its extirpation."

DENIES POLITICS DICTATED INDIANA RELIEF QUIZ CUT

Philip Zoercher, chairman of the Indiana state tax board and political appointee of Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, denied yesterday that politics is involved in the board's halving of the $12,000 appropriation sought to finance the investigation of poor relief frauds in Lake county.

Prosecutor Felix Kaul of Lake county and Frank L. Hoess, president of the Lake county council, have protested against the drastic reduction.

Zoercher also denied reports that state officials were fearful the inquiry might hurt the Democratic Townsend-Minton state machine. He said the tax board was not concerned in protecting any Democratic officials.

CITY'S TEACHERS FORM POWERFUL POLITICAL LOBBY

Most of 14,000 Belong to Pressure Group.

The majority of Chicago's 14,000 public school teachers are organized to exert political pressure. Acting in lobbying organizations, they pour approximately $130,000 a year into dues.

This was brought forcibly to the attention of legislators in Springfield last week when they felt the force of an organized drive for the passage of two measures beneficial to the teachers.

One measure passed the senate and is pending in the house. It would increase the Chicago schools' annual pegged levy from $48,000,000 to $52,000,000. The increase would provide more money for teachers salaries.

Would Double Pension Fund.

The other measure would double the tax for the teachers' pension fund. The tax now is 8 mills on $1 of assessed property valuation. This measure was tabled in the senate revenue committee, but efforts may be made to revive it.

Since the bills were introduced the legislators have been bombarded with letters, telegrams, and telephone and personal calls from teachers. The Chicago Teachers' union went a step farther. It introduced politeness into the campaign. It told its members to send "thank you letters" to senators who already had voted for the increased pegged levy.

Members of Lobby.

The organizations engaged in legislative lobbying are the union, with 8,500 members; the Chicago division of the Illinois Educational association, with 9,783 members; the Association of Chicago Teachers, with about 600 members, and the Chicago Principals' club, with 300 members. The Chicago Teachers' federation favors the increased pegged levy but not the pension tax increase. The Principals' club has taken no official action on the pegged levy.

The Chicago Teachers' union, youngest of the organizations, is rated as the most powerful politically. It was formed in 1937 when four teacher organizations were merged. It has offices at 509 South Wabash avenue, where it maintains a paid executive secretary, Kermit Eby. Dues are $10 a year.

During the legislative session its president, John M. Fewkes, remains in Springfield as a lobbyist. Fewkes, a physical education teacher in Tilden Technical High school, is on a leave of absence. The union pays him his regular salary. He is assisted in Springfield from time to time by the union's vice president, Miss Helen E. Taggart, who teaches in Lake View High school. While she is in Springfield she obtains temporary leaves of absence.

Division Less Strong.

The Chicago division of the Illinois Education association, 77 West Washington street, has more members than the union but is not considered as strong as the teachers' union. Most of its members belong to other teacher groups.

Lyle Wolf, Chicago Teachers' college teacher, is president of the association. Wolf and Harry Roach, a paid lobbyist, represent the association in Springfield. It also is represented by the staf of the Illinois Education association, which has offices there.

The Chicago Teachers' federation, 127 North Dearborn street, was founded in 1897. Once the most powerful teacher group, it has lost many members to the teachers' union. Its membership is estimated at 900. Their dues are $10 a year. It has been represented in Springfield by its president, Lillian Lewis, Armstrong school teacher; Francis Kenny, Burns school, chairman of the pension committee, and Attorney William J. Colohan of Chicago.

Against Pension Bill.

The federation opposed the pension bill on the ground that the increase is not needed until 1941. Members of other teacher groups said the federation's struggle with the union for control of the Chicago division of the Illinois Education association was behind its stand on the pension.

The Association of Chicago Teachers, 77 West Washington street, is another group which has lost membership to the union. It is supporting both tax increases. John T. Myers, Austin High school teacher, is president.

The Chicago Principals' club, 185 North Wabash avenue, has 300 members out of 372 principals. O. C. Taubeneck is the salaried executive secretary. William H. Spurgin, West Pullman elementary school principal, is president. Dues are $30 a year.

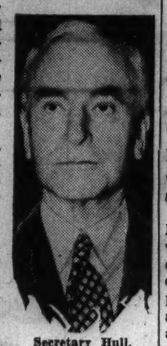
Los Angeles, Cal., May 21. — [Special.]—Actress Dolores Del Rio did a good turn yesterday for an overly ambitious Mexican boy, José Matute, 9 years old, who ran away from his home and ailing mother in Guadalajara, Mexico. Miss Del Rio obligingly paid the bill for the lad's return railroad fare, traveling clothes, and several years' schooling with the admonition to go back and enter this country in the proper way.

HULL REVEALS U. S. GOAL IS TO DISARM WORLD

Defends Trade Treaties as Means to End.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—A world disarmament congress, Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed tonight, is the objective of the Roosevelt administration's foreign policy.



Secretary Hull.

Apparently, however, it is an ultimate and none too immediate objective, for the United States at the moment is actively participating in the greatest international armament competition in the history of the human race.

Mr. Hull spoke in inauguration of foreign trade week and defended his reciprocal trade agreement program. He stressed the pacific aims of the administration while delivering a few left handed thrusts at the European dictators and assailing American nationalists who would keep America out of entanglement in European affairs.

Reads Message from President.

The secretary read a message from President Roosevelt, who said that 60 per cent of our foreign trade is now carried on with the twenty-one countries with whom reciprocal trade agreements have been concluded.

"Pacific intercourse," said the President, "is still the idea of most of the world. It is the dominant purpose of the foreign policy of the United States. Our hope and aims are that peaceful interchange shall again become the normal state of affairs.

"In carrying out this intention we have a right to expect breadth of vision from all groups in our own country. Increased foreign trade yields large dividends in terms of economic well being and friendly relations with other nations; but to secure it there must be fair exchange. We must take, as well as give; import, as well as export. We shall profit by doing so."

Hull Belabors Opponents.

"A sustained and thriving commerce with the rest of the world is necessary for the preservation of sound domestic prosperity and our cherished liberties," said Mr. Hull.

"There are those who deny this. Some would have us abandon the difficult task of sustaining this commerce. Others would have us shirk the responsibilities that arise from the fact that we live in the world and not out of it.

"America," said Mr. Hull, "could live entirely by itself," but the result would be the diminution of the production of goods for export, the increase of unemployment in the export production and shipping occupations, and a general lowering of the standard of living."

The secretary dwelt on the "desperate disquiet" which for months has prevailed in the world. Peaceful pursuits have been subordinated to the armament race.

"This must end," said Mr. Hull. "The universal desire of all peoples, when they surmount their fears and apprehensions, is, I am convinced, to live at peace with their fellow men. By peace I mean the peace of understanding and not mere yielding to superior force.

"Therefore, there must be a return to the determination not to resort to war as a means of settling grievances. There must be an end to the attempt to substitute for fair discussion the threat of stronger arms. There must be an agreement that will limit and ultimately lessen the creation of armaments. And with these developments there must come trade and economic arrangements between nations that will redound to the great material benefit of all.

"This is the broad course for which we are working. It is the course which, in plain duty both to ourselves and to our position in the world, we are bound to follow."

DAY IS LIKE POEM AND PRAIRIE CLUB SEES POETIC SPOT

Hikers Visit Bryant Home in Historic Princeton.

BY GUY MURCHIE.

It was a green May morning in the countryside of Princeton, in Bureau county, yesterday when Chicago's Prairie club met for its thirtieth anniversary outing. The night's rain had left the grass wet and the air clean against a sky streaked in soft white and flecks of blue.

About forty members were ready at the Clark hotel on South Main street at 9 o'clock. They had motored the 120 miles from Chicago the day before for a week-end of country air, glimpses of farm life, and the feel of things made by the pioneers.

There was Frank L. Morse, the club president, who has been hitting the prairie and canoe trails since the organization was formed in 1909. And there was a girl of 12. There were women in blue slacks, yellow sweaters and red bandanas; men in khaki breeches and high boots. Headwear ranged from brown berets to lavender fish nets.

Women Outnumber Men.

More women were there than men, but there were plenty of men, and they all knew each other and were glad to be in the country. They laughed often with the sunshine in their faces. Many had their cameras along.

Princeton is a town under a green canopy spangled with sunlight. Every street is lined with elm trees a hundred feet high and scarcely fifteen feet from one to the next. This dense verdure, in which wrens and catbirds and grackles sound their woody notes, meets overhead, making the streets green tunnels, alive with warmth and song. It is like old New England in the days before the elm blight.

And well might it be, for New Englanders were prominent among the determined settlers who built the town and planted those stately trees. This fact was made clear to the Prairie clubbers for in the morning they visited the large brick home of a Mrs. Ferris, granddaughter of John Howard Bryant who built the middle part of the house in 1833. The walls are made of hand-baked brick, the floors of virgin hardwood planks. The Bryant family were Yankees from the east.

Gave World Great Poem.

Some of John's brothers also settled in Princeton and his famous brother, William Cullen Bryant, poet and editor of a New York paper, sometimes came to visit. It was in John's house that William put the finishing touches to a poem written in memory of his little sister, who died as a young girl. "The Death of the Flowers" he called it and Princeton in the autumn was his text.

The first verse runs:

"The melancholy days are come,
the saddest of the year,
Of wailing winds and naked woods and meadows brown and sere.
Heaped in the hollows of the grove
the autumn leaves lie dead;
They rustle to the eddying gust and to the rabbit's tread.
The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrubs the jay,
And from the woodtop calls the crow through all the gloomy day."

A lady member of the club remembered the poem and recited it all, standing in the old house while her companions listened.

See "Underground Railway."

After old John Howard Bryant's home, the gay Prairie throng headed for J. L. Spaulding's farm at the other side of town. In their automobiles they went, in a long file guided by the Nelson sisters—Nell and Evelyn. As the cars pulled into the farm driveway and the people climbed out, the air was lush with the unborn summer—so thick that it seemed to slump into one's lungs—succulent with apple blossom dew, dandelion down, and the song of the meadowlark.

After looking at Spalding's fat live stock and hordes of little pigs, the group repaired next door to look at an old house built low to the ground and finished in white horizontal planks. It was an "underground railway" station before the civil war; that is, a stopping place for runaway slaves who were conducted by secret routes to be set free in the north.

Acquitted for "Holy" Work.

One of the idealistic abolitionists who carried on this work of helping slaves escape was Owen Lovejoy from New Hampshire. He was indicted in 1842 for hiding frightened Negroes in this very house. As Spaulding put it, "they habes corpused him into court to produce the slaves." And then they acquitted him because he was "engaged in a holy cause."

In 1863 the county [named after a half breed trader: Pierre de Beuro] erected a covered bridge across Bureau creek a couple of miles to the north. It was a modern bridge, costing $3,149, and covered over in traditional New England style to keep the snow from rotting the timbers. It is still there, and the Prairie club members went to it for their lunch of doughnuts and milk. It has been braced for automobiles, but the original sign remains over the entrance—a sign of weathered black letters on faded white, and a nest of young robins partly covering one end. The sign warns all passers: "FIV [bird's nest] LLARS FINE FOR DRIVING MORE THAN TWELVE HORSES, MULES, OR CATTLE AT ONE TIME OR FOR LEADING ANY BEAST FASTER THAN A WALK ON OR ACROSS THIS BRIDGE."

The Prairie club was organized as the Saturday Afternoon Walks association. It adopted its present name when it was incorporated in 1911. One of its proud boasts is that no scheduled hike has ever been abandoned, regardless of weather. It conducts walks, or hikes, every Saturday afternoon and on certain Sundays, generally through scenic areas, where the hikers are always close to nature.

LUNATIC BURNS HIS WAY OUT OF STATE HOSPITAL

Ionia, Mich., May 21.—[Special.]—Amos Jackson, 38 years old, classed as a dangerous lunatic, burned his way out of Ionia State hospital this afternoon. He still was at large tonight. Considerable damage was done to one of the buildings by the fire which Jackson started. He was committed from Benton Harbor.

Most of the inmates and attendants were at voluntary chapel when Jackson started a fire on top of furniture near the ceiling in his top floor room in one of the older buildings. A guard discovered the fire and sounded an alarm. It was twenty minutes before the fire was brought under control. Then it was found that Jackson had escaped to the roof of the building through a hole burned through the ceiling, and had reached the ground on a fire escape.

G-MEN RAID FLAT ON NORTH SIDE; SEIZE BANK LOOT

Accused Bandit and Wife Arrested in Minneapolis.

Federal agents under D. M. Ladd, chief of the Chicago office of the bureau of investigation, raided a north side apartment Saturday night and seized $2,600 as part of loot stolen last February from a bank in Wichita, Kas.

In announcing the seizure yesterday Ladd also disclosed that one of the alleged bandits, Arnold Thomas Kyle, and his wife, Thelma, had been arrested in Minneapolis, Minn. Kyle, an ex-convict who had been sought for other bank robberies in Kansas, California, and Oregon, is 30 years old. His wife is 33.

G-Men Watch Apartment.

Kyle and another man allegedly held up the Kansas State bank in Wichita on Feb. 8 and stole $10,000. Kyle headed for Chicago, but whether he arrived here is unknown. His wife and baby, Leroy, 8 months old, came to Chicago late in February and moved into an apartment at 4429 Magnolia avenue.

Federal agents learned of this and placed Mrs. Kyle under surveillance. The agents could have arrested her at any time, but waited, hoping to capture her husband. They thought he might attempt to visit her. The watch went on, month after month.

Meantime Kyle was living in Minneapolis. On Friday Minneapolis police arrested him for drunken driving. Finger prints disclosed that he was wanted by federal authorities. His wife was informed he had been injured in an automobile accident.

Find $1,560 on Woman.

She left Chicago for Minneapolis on the North Western railway, leaving her baby with a neighbor. Federal agents boarded the train and arrested her Saturday as she alighted in Minneapolis. They found $1,560 in her purse and suitcase. Ladd was notified and his men went to her apartment. They found the $2,600 in $1, $10, and $20 bills.

Ladd said that Kyle and his wife would be taken to Wichita. She is to be charged with harboring a federal fugitive. Ladd said Kyle is believed to have participated in six other bank robberies—four in Los Angeles, one in Oakland, Cal., and one in Portland, Ore. Another man is being sought as Kyle's accomplice.

Boulder City, Nev., May 21.—(AP)—George Palmer Putnam, 52 years old, Hollywood publisher, and Mrs. Jean-Marie Consigny James, Beverly Hills divorcée, were married here today.

The ceremony was performed in a hotel patio by the Rev. H. H. Eymann, with Mr. and Mrs. Gover E. Ruckstell of Boulder City, old friends of Putnam, and their daughter Patricia as witnesses.

The former husband of Amelia Earhart and his prospective bride, who was divorced last week from William R. James, had planned to be married at Las Vegas, Nev., but flew here from Los Angeles instead.

After the wedding the couple boarded a Lake Mead excursion launch. They planned to leave by train early tomorrow for Chicago.

OUR CHILDREN ARE YOURS, HITLER IS TOLD BY MOTHERS

Million Women Over 60 Get Nazi Medals.

BERLIN, May 21.—(AP)—German mothers, honored this Mothers' day by Nazi leaders as perpetuators and guardians of the German people, symbolically presented their children today to Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Speaking in the name of all mothers, Frau Gertrud Scholtz-Klink, leader of Nazi women and the mother of four children, said in a radio address:

"We bring the fruits of our motherhood to the Fuehrer and say to him: 'It is the best that we have, therefore it belongs to you'."

Give Out Medals.

Pride in motherhood was being stimulated by the distribution of medals authorized by Reichsfuehrer Hitler to "kindereiche" women [mothers rich in children].

More than 1,000,000 mothers past 60 years of age received the decorations—gold crosses for mothers of eight or more children, silver crosses for those with six or seven, and bronze crosses for those who have only four or five.

Win Nazi Salutes.

Women wearing the new medals began appearing on Berlin streets in the afternoon and received respectful Nazi salutes.

Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick, who represented the government in the Mothers' day observance, recalled that some years ago babies were unfashionable in Germany.

"What a change since 1933!" Frick exclaimed. "Our Fuehrer took an iron broom to sweep out those antisocial ideas. He taught us that the future does not depend on the material success of the individual, who passes away, but on a wealth of healthy children."

House and Garden Show Attracts 155,000 Visitors

More than 155,000 persons visited the National House and Garden exposition in the Coliseum last week, collecting latest ideas in home and garden design, architectural and financing plans, and material and equipment. John A. Servas, managing director, said plans are well advanced for repeating the exposition here next year.

Application Errors Hold Up 50,000 Drivers' Licenses

More than 50,000 Illinois motorists are waiting for their drivers' license because they filled out their applications incorrectly, it was learned yesterday. Up to Saturday noon 2,400,000 licenses had been issued.

Order Requiring Rheumatic Fever Case Reports Upheld

The corporation counsel's office yesterday upheld the legality of the board of health order requiring Chicago physicians to report cases of rheumatic fever. Dr. Robert A. Black, acting president of the health board, said the information is necessary to combat the increase in the number of heart disease cases.

HARLAN COUNTY GOES TO CHURCH; C. I. O. WAR WAITS

Reopen Negotiations on Contract.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harlan, Ky., May 21.—[Special.]—After one of its most turbulent weeks in years Harlan county went to church today and rested up for the renewal of its C. I. O. mine warfare tomorrow. Roads and pathways were dotted with people in Sunday best, on their way to and from mountain churches.

The preachers—many of whom work in the mines during the week—exhorted the flocks, each according to his own interpretation of the gospel and the present situation. In some of the sermons fire and brimstone were called down upon the mine owners. In others, John L. Lewis and his C. I. O. followers were consigned to the bottomless pit.

Hymns at Contract Signing.

At the Black Star coal mine several hundred workers gathered to approve the closed shop contract with Lewis' C. I. O. United Mine Workers, signed yesterday. The meeting was at the same hour as church services and the attendance therefore was reduced. As a compromise with the scrupulous, a small choir, accompanied by banjos and guitars, sang two hymns.

Down the hollows of Martins Fork Ridge rolled the echoes of "Tell Him What You Want To," another "I'll Know Who Is My Brother After a While." The compelling rhythm of the music was accompanied by the drumlike stamping of feet.

Standing together were two men who were leaders in picket line violence during the week. One of them dared a National Guard officer on Wednesday to take off his pistol and be killed with bare hands. At the end of today's prayer they all intoned a deep amen.

4,100 Back to Work.

Altogether 4,100 of the county's 16,000 miners will go back to the pits on the strength of contracts signed by independent companies. Twenty-six hundred others will go to work under protection of troops at mines that are members of the Harlan County Coal Operators' association. It has steadfastly refused to surrender to Lewis and his Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The jobs of these latter and those of the 10,000 others who have not returned to work will be the subject of joint negotiations which open tomorrow between the scale committee of the operators and the representatives of the U. M. W.

Conciliator May Attend.

W. J. Cunningham, president of the association, will be accompanied by S. J. Dickinson and Charles S. Guthrie, both mine owners. They will face William Turnblazer, president of district 19, U. M. W.; George Titler, secretary, and Paul Reed of Chicago, international representative. Both sides today still refused to yield on the closed shop clause.

It is possible that the talks will be attended by Federal Conciliator John L. Conner, sent here by Mme. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, and Emmett Durrett of Kentucky's state bureau of industrial relations. Except for two formal calls on the operators since his arrival Thursday night, Conner has devoted his time to other matters. He has been seen often in company with the C. I. O. leaders, Turnblazer and Titler. At his first press conference he invited Turnblazer to sit beside him and take part. Turnblazer did so.

Brien McMahon Arrives.

Brien McMahon, assistant to Attorney General Frank Murphy, arrived here today. McMahon has resigned, effective last midnight, but is being retained as special assistant to carry through several cases, among which is retrial of the government's case against sixty-two Harlan county defendants charged with violations of the national labor relations act.

Upon his arrival McMahon was asked who sent him to Harlan.

"The attorney general of the United States," he replied.

"Did he discuss the Harlan county situation with you?" McMahon was asked.

"Yes. This situation has attracted national attention. There have been stories and published reports that civil liberties have been infringed upon. Mr. Schweinhaut [Henry Schweinhaut, an assistant in the attorney general's civil liberties unit] and I have been sent to observe conditions, talk to both sides to determine whether in our opinion these reports are true.

Confers with Troop Chief.

McMahon conferred with Brig. Gen. E. B. Carter, in command of the 1,300 troops on duty, and with Conciliator Connor. McMahon asked Gen. Carter if in his opinion withdrawal of the state troops would restore peace to Harlan county.

"Bloodshed and murder would follow immediately," the general declared. "If men tried to go to work without the protection of troops they would be beaten and slugged. Some of them would be killed."

Gen. Carter said that even after the settlement of the mine war there will be isolated cases of reprisal as soon as the troops leave. Withdrawal of the troops before a settlement would be madness, he told McMahon.

MAXINE BURKE.

JAMES MICHELETTI.

Blonde Maxine Burke, a minister's daughter from Spring Valley, eloped last Tuesday with James Micheletti. She vowed she would marry him the moment she reached the legal age of 18 years. That is today. But because she was so impatient, her birthday will not be her wedding day.

Maxine and Micheletti were found here yesterday at the home of his sister, 4734 Superior street. Maxine was held by Chicago police at the request of her father, the Rev. Maxwell Burke of the Spring Valley Congregational church, until Spring Valley police came and took her home last night.

She said her father was too strict, and that she is determined to marry her fiancé, who is 28 years old and jobless. Micheletti was accused of eloping with a minor. He'll be too busy with the law to get married today.

Reached in Spring Valley, the Rev. Burke said his daughter was too young to marry, and that Micheletti had no means of supporting her.

"As to discipline," he added, "Maxine will be pleasantly surprised. We are all through with that. We are ready to make the best of an unfortunate situation."

GREEN CHARGES NLRB OPENLY IN LEAGUE WITH CIO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, tonight charged the national labor relations board has aided and abetted the systematic campaign of the Congress of Industrial Organizations to destroy the federation.

In pleading for adoption of the federation's amendments to the labor act, Green said that members of the federation feel they are entering a hostile camp when they appear before the present board.

Green defended the federation's suggested modification of the labor act from the C. I. O. accusation that the federation is working to curtail the rights of labor. He said the federation initiated the labor relations act and is seeking to amend it so it will give fair play to all, which the NLRB has failed to do.

RETAILERS RALLY TONIGHT TO BACK LABOR PEACE BILL

Plan Would Require Ten Day Notice Before Strike

An estimated 50,000 retailers will be represented tonight at a rally in the La Salle hotel in support of the Lantz employment peace bill. Organized labor leaders are opposing the bill in the Illinois senate.

Senator Lantz.

The measure, sometimes called the "innocent bystander" bill, is designed primarily to protect the public in labor disputes. It would require ten days' notice before a strike could be called.

Senator Simon E. Lantz [R., Congerville], a veteran leader of the agricultural bloc who introduced the bill, has been invited to speak at tonight's meeting, but may be unable to attend.

All Fields to Be Represented.

Every field of retailing in the Chicago area will be represented, according to J. C. Amis, chairman of the Council of Retail Trade Associations and secretary of the Chicago Retail Hardware association.

Other associations participating will be the Chicago Restaurant, Retail Furniture, Chicago Retail Druggists, Illinois Meat Dealers, Associated Retail Bakers of Chicago, Chicago Credit Jewelers, and other groups.

Marshall Weaver, secretary of the Cook County Food Dealers' association, said he hoped that political leaders in Cook county will support the Lantz bill.

"Our members feel that the bill will do more to help restore normal business conditions to Chicago than any other single factor," said Weaver.

Committee Backs Bill.

After hearing both sides, the senate committee on agriculture, by a vote of 14 to 7, recently recommended passage of the bill. It is on first reading on the senate calendar.

Senator Lantz said yesterday that the favorable response of the rank and file employés and of small employers has been overwhelming. Many of them have told him they are appealing to state senators from their districts to support the bill.

"Where does the opposition come from?" asked Lantz. "It comes from a small group of professional union officials who cannot claim to represent more than 5 per cent of the population. Illinois has more than 7,000,000 people to be protected, including 3,000,000 workers."

Farmers Heavy Losers.

Farmers especially have been heavy losers in strikes in which they had no direct part, Lantz said. Ten days' notice of strikes would give them a chance to change shipping plans and avoid these losses, he said.

The bill defines unfair practices for workers as well as for employers. It would be considered unfair for employés to use coercion or violence on fellow workers to compel them to join a union or a strike.

Administration of the proposed act would be by a state commission of three members. Enforcement of commission orders would be through Circuit courts, which would have authority to review the commission's findings.

MAYOR TO AID PROGRAM

Mayor Kelly will go to Springfield today to aid in preparing a Democratic program for the final six weeks of the sixty-first general assembly. He will talk to party leaders and is expected to confer with Gov. Henry Horner.

Among matters which the mayor will discuss is the Chicago park district bill for pegged tax levies of $10,500,000 in 1939 and $11,000,000 in 1940 and 1941. This measure is being opposed in the house because the current pegged levy is only $7,600,000.

Relief again is requiring Mayor Kelly's attention. For the two year period starting July 1 the state administration has proposed a relief appropriation of $72,000,000. Bills introduced by Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], the mayor's legislative spokesman, seek $120,000,000 for this purpose.

Expect Syphilis Bill Action.

A bill requiring physicians to make blood tests for syphilis while examining expectant mothers is expected to be called for passage when the house convenes tonight. As amended recently, the bill provides for another test when the first one indicates the presence of syphilis or where the result is doubtful.

Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago], who also sponsored the premarital physical examinations act, said the bill is a logical forward step in the campaign against syphilis.

A hearing is expected to be held by the house judiciary committee this week on a bill authorizing the formation of corporations to issue medical care insurance. Many proponents of the measure have predicted that such a plan would operate as successfully as hospital insurance, legalized by the legislature in 1937.

INCREASE ROBINSON TO RESIGN POST AS WPA ART EXECUTIVE

Increase Robinson.

Mrs. Increase Robinson, prominent in Chicago art circles, will resign as assistant to the federal arts project director, it was disclosed yesterday. Art project officials in Washington would not comment on the reason for the resignation and Mrs. Robinson said any statement from her would be premature. For the last five years Mrs. Robinson has served variously as state and regional director of the WPA federal art project and as art director of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission when it undertook to complete public murals left unfinished by the old Public Works art project. A year ago she was replaced as state director by George Thorp, who came here from New York.

CLIPPER ALIGHTS AT LISBON ON HOP ACROSS ATLANTIC

Completes 2d Leg of Trip to Open Air Service.

LISBON, Portugal, May 21.—(AP)—The huge Yankee Clipper linked the old and new worlds on its initial flight in regular service by alighting on the Tagus river here at 7:42 p. m., G. M. T. [2:42 p. m., Chicago time] today.

The plane with sixteen crewmen and observers aboard reached here with its 2,483 pounds of mail from the Azores after a flight of 6 hours 54 minutes. The distance is 1,300 miles.

The silvery Clipper floated down just at sunset to complete the first commercial flight across the North Atlantic.

Flight "Just Routine."

The history making flight started from New York at 12:07 p. m., eastern standard time, yesterday and the big airliner landed at Horta, The Azores, at 1:28 a. m., Chicago time, today, covering the 2,300 miles of its first leg in 13 hours and 21 minutes. Six hours and 19 minutes were required to stamp the mail at the Azores post-office, making the total elapsed time to Lisbon 26 hours 34 minutes.

Veteran Commander Arthur E. La Porte, skipper of the craft, said it was "just routine and not very romantic." He was second officer on the Clipper when it made its initial crossing on an exploratory flight last March.

J. Carroll Cone, Atlantic division manager of Pan-American Airways, operator of the plane, declared it was "the finest flight of my twenty-two years of flying. I was so interested I slept only three hours last night."

Marseilles Next Stop.

The Clipper was delayed at Horta because of the inability of the post-office there to stamp quickly 23,000 letters for collectors which the plane brought from the United States. Additional letters were taken on there for remailing in Europe.

Volunteers had to be called upon to aid in handling the mail while Pan-American officials collected supplies of stamps from neighboring islands to replenish Horta's exhausted supply.

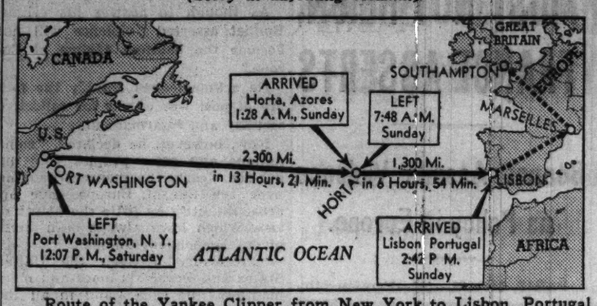
The Clipper will take off at 7 a. m., Greenwich mean time [2 a. m., Chicago time], for Marseilles, France, tomorrow.

Second Flight Starts Saturday.

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The Yankee Clipper's sister flying boat, Atlantic Clipper, will take off from New York Saturday on the second mail flight of the new trans-Atlantic air service, Pan-American Airways announced tonight. Capt. Harold Gray, pioneer trans-Pacific pilot, will be in charge.

Yankee Clipper Links U. S. and Europe

(Story in adjoining column.)



Route of the Yankee Clipper from New York to Lisbon, Portugal, where it landed yesterday to complete the second leg of its inaugural flight to Europe with mail and express. Elapsed time for the flight was 26 hours 34 minutes, including 6 hours 19 minutes spent at Horta, The Azores. The Clipper was to take off for Marseilles, France, early today.

QUINTS LEAVE ON FIRST TRAIN RIDE TO MEET THEIR KING AND QUEEN

CALLANDER, Ont., May 21.—[Canadian Press.]—The Dionne quintuplets went on their first train ride tonight, and for the first time departed from the neighborhood where they were born, to see the British king and queen in Toronto tomorrow.

Behind an escort of Ontario provincial police the five children rode in a new automobile with their nurses to board the crimson and gold "Quintland Special" at Trout Lake crossing, five miles north of here. All Callander's 800 residents were out to bid them farewell, and a band concert at the station attended their departure.

The quints, now almost 5 years old, were dressed in light blue, double-breasted flannel coats and poke bonnets of fine straw trimmed with pink ribbon, and were supremely thrilled. Oliva and Elzire Dionne, the quintuplets' parents, and their other six children were almost as thrilled over the trip as the quintuplets. One year old Victor was left at home in care of a maid. Mrs. Dionne made final preparations for her presentation to the king and queen by making a special trip to North Bay Saturday night to have her hair waved.

SEATS $2 TO $5 ON ROUTE OF ROYAL TOUR IN TORONTO

TORONTO, Ont., May 21—[Canadian Press.]—From seats costing $2 to $5 you can get a store window view of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain when their procession moves through Toronto tomorrow.

Shopkeepers along the route to be followed by the royal party started moving out displays and installing chairs and benches at the close of business last night in anticipation of filling them with paying guests.

The sovereigns will reach Toronto at 9:30 a. m. The Dionne quintuplets will be presented in the legislative buildings. After a tour of the city in the morning the king and queen will go to Woodbine park in the afternoon to witness the running of the King's Plate, historic Canadian horse racing event. They leave Toronto at 6 p. m.

WOODLAWN DADS AND SONS PLAN BANQUET FETE

One hundred fathers and 100 sons will gather Wednesday night in their quarters above the Woodlawn police station for the first annual fathers' and sons' banquet of the Woodlawn-Chicago Boys' club. The group, organized last November by the Woodlawn Business Men's association, numbers 1,036. Police Commissioner Allman and Capt. Patrick Collins, in command at the station, will be honorary hosts. Other official guests include Ald. Patrick Sheridan Smith, Ald. Paul H. Douglas, and the Rev. Harold Leonard Bowman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

KING AND QUEEN WALK UNGUARDED IN OTTAWA CROWD

Leave for Toronto After Memorial Is Unveiled.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 21.—(AP)—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain today became the center of a surging, dramatic popular demonstration by at least 50,000 persons packed in Confederation square, the central plaza of Canada's capital.

Alone, without guards or escorts, they walked into the crowds after the king had unveiled the national memorial to Canada's 60,000 war dead.

For half an hour they were the center of a swirling, elbowing mass in a scene like an American football game with the crowd pouring from the stands after the game.

On Way to Toronto.

It was their farewell to the spired dominion capital before entraining for Toronto, which they will visit next on their month's tour of Canada and the United States.

The blue and silver royal train left at 1:35 p. m. [Chicago time]. Another huge crowd jammed the square in front of the station under blue skies and brilliant sunshine to see the king and queen pass.

Never before had a British king and queen done what King George and his Scottish queen did today in making their adieu a big open air reception for everybody. It was as though they had gone to London's Trafalgar square or Chicago's loop to hold court.

Once the crowds seemed in danger of becoming an agitated mob, but 12,000 Canadian war veterans—many of them in delegations from the United States—merely shouted for order and quiet was restored.

Englishmen Stand Agast.

Englishmen who have followed royal retinues for many years stood agast as they watched their king and queen unconcernedly cross street car tracks and push their way 200 yards before they climbed into their automobile and returned to Rideau hall, residence of Canada's governor general.

The impromptu royal court smoothed the ruffled feelings of many veterans who had found themselves behind a barrier of silk hatted notables. "Off with the silk hats," they shouted until the notables complied.

Before they left the square to enter their automobile they had shaken hands and talked with as many people as they met among the 5,000 at the royal garden party here yesterday. The king and queen shook hands with the 700 guests at the government dinner last night.

The demonstration was an unexpected aftermath of the semi-religious ceremony around the great 850 ton mass of statuary commemorating Canada's war effort.

The memorial depicts a huge group of huddled troops, representing all Canadian services, moving in ragged formation through a great granite arch. Its only inscription is the numerals "1914-1918."

The king's speech, delivered clearly with pauses between words and phrases, was broadcast in the square to the hushed thousands.

"For the cause of peace and freedom," he said with deep solemnity, "60,000 Canadians gave their lives and a still larger number suffered impairment of body or mind."

Crowning the arch of the statue are figures of peace and freedom.

"Not by chance did the crowning figures of peace and freedom appear side by side," continued the king. "Peace and freedom cannot long be separated. It is well that we have, in one of the world's capitals, a visible reminder of so great a truth.

"Without freedom there can be no enduring peace and without peace no enduring freedom."

100,000 Gather at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 21.—[Canadian Press.]—A crowd of approximately 100,000 persons saw the British king and queen tonight in this historic city where the log parliament building of old Upper Canada stands. The royal party spent an hour and thirty-five minutes here.

REP. TINKHAM ASKS OFFICIAL DENIAL OF PACT WITH BRITAIN

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—Representative George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.] today suggested that in view of the forthcoming visit of King George VI. of England to the United States, President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull should assure the nation that the administration has formed no military alliance with Great Britain.

Both in Europe and Asia it is commonly believed that such an alliance has been made, Tinkham said.

A member of the house committee on foreign affairs, Tinkham asserted that if Mr. Roosevelt or Secretary Hull declined to give assurances, then it is incumbent upon the congress by appropriate resolution to give notice to the world that the United States is not the pawn and ally of the British empire.

"Various royal visits to France almost invariably were accompanied by political commitments and frequently followed by war," Tinkham said.

DON'T BE AFRAID OF RUSSIA, ALLIES TOLD BY BRITAIN

London Quiets Polish and Rumanian Fears.

LONDON, May 21.—(AP)—Great Britain was reported reliably tonight to have made substantial progress in removing Polish and Rumanian objections regarded as a barrier to bringing soviet Russian into the British-French front against aggressors.

In a series of week-end talks, informed sources said, the British government discussed the question at length with representatives of Poland and Rumania and, they said, succeeded in banishing at least some apprehension which apparently existed in Warsaw and Bucharest.

Find Results Satisfactory.

Results were described in circles close to the government as satisfactory, but it was pointed out that final Polish and Rumanian reaction would not be known until British ambassadors in Warsaw and Bucharest had reported to London.

Britain, under pressure from France, was understood to have reached the conclusion that she must accept the general principle of the Russian proposal for a French-British-Russian military alliance.

[In Geneva, where Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax of Britain and Ivan Maisky, soviet ambassador to London, conferred, Britain was understood to have turned toward acceptance of the Russian plan and to be concerned primarily now with just what form an alliance would take.]

Reports of the ambassadors, therefore, were awaited with considerable anxiety because it was believed Britain's action would be governed largely by the responses of Poland and Rumania to whom she has pledged aid in case of attack.

Plan New Note to Russia.

Their opposition to any plan which might result in the use of soviet troops on their soil has been given by British spokesmen as the chief reason for Britain's hesitation in accepting Moscow's demands for a hard and fast military alliance.

The reports were expected to be in the government's hands when the cabinet meets next Wednesday. It is expected then to draft a new note to Russia. This, it was said, will set forth new British concessions closely matching the soviet proposals unless Poland and Rumania stand in the way.

Palestine Plan Up for Test.

The government, meanwhile, will try to win parliamentary approval of its new Palestine plan which ultimately would make the Holy Land an independent state with an Arab majority.

A showdown on the plan—which has incurred the anger both of Arabs and Jews—was expected to come Tuesday when it was scheduled for a vote after two days of debate. If parliament approves the plan, as the government expects despite opposition from numerous quarters, it will be submitted for the final approval of the permanent mandates committee of the league of nations. Britain governs Palestine under a league mandate.

Killing Stirs Danzig

Political observers last night wondered if Germany would use the killing of a Danzig German by a Pole as an excuse to increase her agitation for the return of the Free City to the reich. Captions on map show where killing occurred and where an angry mob of Nazis attempted to avenge the killing by besieging a building in which Polish customs inspectors live.

Germany Lacks Engineers; 3,000 Students Put to Work

BERLIN, May 21.—(AP)—Germany needs 3,000 to 4,000 additional engineers immediately to carry out building and technical projects, Dr. Fritz Todt, builder of highways and fortifications, told a convention of engineers at Cologne today. Dr. Todt said the need was so acute that about 3,000 engineering students were being taken from colleges to assist in the Nazi building program.

POLES FEAR COUP BY HITLER OVER SLAYING OF NAZI

Danzig Seeks Damages; Crisis Aggravated.

invaded Kalthof consisted of high spirited boys out for fun. All provocation was denied and the death of the Nazi was described as wilful and unjustified murder.

Czech Shooting Recalled.

Although incidents of this kind—sometimes resulting in deaths or injuries—already have occurred along the Polish-German border, this one appears unusually serious.

It may be only a coincidence, but it happened exactly one year to the day and almost to the hour after the incident at Eger—which the Czechs then called Cheb—in which two Germans were shot while near a frontier post. The Czecho-Slovak incident led to the partial Czecho-Slovak mobilization of May 31 which marked the beginning of the serious stage of last summer's crisis.

The events of May 20 last year were the first of a series which often was marked by attacks on customs posts. The result was to keep the Czechs in a state of tension and to give Reichsfuehrer Hitler an occasion for his outcry that Germans were being murdered and that the Sudeten area was in a state of anarchy—anarchy caused by Czechs.

Resolved to Keep Order.

Polish observers wondered if they are going to see the unrolling of the same scenario. The Poles feel that Hitler will be unable to break their nerves as he did the Czechs' and they are resolved to keep order along their frontier.

In any case, the parallel to last year will fail in one respect. There will be no special Polish mobilization as a result of this incident. The Poles already have about a million men in the field, enough for any sudden emergency.

Danzig Protests to Poland.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, May 21.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur Greiser, president of the Danzig senate, today sent a formal note of protest to Marion Chodaki, the Polish commissioner general to Danzig, against the killing of Gustav Greubner.

Danzig authorities said the man charged with firing the shots that killed Greubner was the driver of an automobile carrying Polish officials.

Greiser's note demanded three things:

1. That damages be paid to Greubner's family.
2. That Poland promptly and formally express her regrets.
3. That the man who fired the shots be handed over to the Free City police as proof that the three Polish officials who were with the chauffeur were not connected with the act.

Returns in a Taxicab.

Greiser said Greubner, who lived in Kalthof, had spent Saturday in Marienburg, East Prussia. He was returning with two other persons early this morning in a Free City taxicab, which was forced to halt shortly after crossing the border near the Kalthof railway station because the driver was blinded by the brilliant headlights of a parked automobile.

Then, according to this version, Greubner and the taxi driver got out to investigate, but decided to return to the taxi without exchanging words with the occupants of the other automobile.

The Danzig report alleged Greubner, who was in civilian clothes, was smoking his pipe when he was shot from the rear. It was reported bullets struck him in the neck and right shoulder. He died instantly, the report said.

The occupants of the automobile, according to this version, escaped into the railway station and hopped aboard a locomotive which took them toward Tozen in Poland.

The senate's report denied any damage had been done to the Polish customs inspectors' buildings earlier in the evening.

SPIRIT OF FORCE MUST NOT REIGN, FRANCE ASSERTS

Bonnet Assails Violence as Policy in Europe.

PARIS, May 21.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet assured 50,000 world war veterans today that "France will not let the spirit of domination reign over the world."

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet.

The foreign minister interrupted his diplomatic negotiations for adding soviet Russia to the British-French front to address the congress of the National Veterans' union.

He then proceeded to Geneva to resume his talks with British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and Ivan Maisky, soviet ambassador to London.

Bonnet told the veterans he was "forced to silence" concerning details of the diplomatic negotiations but his words constituted the strongest stand he has taken publicly in the current European situation.

He has been under fire by opponents of Premier Edouard Daladier's government as the foreign minister who tolerated Germany's dismemberment of Czecho-Slovakia, France's former ally.

As though to answer his critics, Bonnet asserted "violence will not become the habitual régime of Europe."

He acknowledged frankly the failure of post war efforts for collective security and disarmament.

Now, however, he declared, "some nations and some peoples who did not see clearly the menaces hanging over the life of Europe have approached little by little the points of view which have always been those of the French government."

"Fraternity between the United States and France is more and more manifest," he said, "and in all the universe those who foolishly doubted France confess their error."

The foreign minister reviewed Britain's adoption of conscription and the guarantees of support given to Poland and other nations.

Weight Is Now Shared.

"To complete this system of guarantees," he went on, "France in accord with England has engaged in negotiations with Turkey and the soviet union which we want to conduct rapidly to a good end in the interests of peace.

"Thus France which a year ago had to bear alone the weight of assistance she had promised can count today on new aid of capital importance."

Bonnet insisted France "tries to encircle no nation" and is "convinced that European problems can be solved with good will and reason.

"What she does not want is that an uninterrupted succession of blows constantly increase among all peoples the uncertainty of the morrow. What we do not accept is a progressive triumph of violence over justice and reason."

WARLIKE CHIEFS 'DEAF TO REASON,' U.S. ENVOY SAYS

ROUEN, France, May 21.—(AP)—William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to Paris, today denounced world leaders who "beat drums of hatred and conquest" and "are deaf to appeals to reason."

"In the end truth triumphs," Bullitt declared in an address at ceremonies in the old market place of Rouen to commemorate the death at the stake there of Joan of Arc.

MOSCOW WOMEN RIOT; SUPPLY OF KRAUT RUNS OUT

Pots and Pans Are Hurled Through Shop Windows.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 21.—The soviet Russian council of national commissars has rejected the proposal of Intourist—soviet travel agency—to organize tours of selected government officials and industrial workers to visit the New York World's Fair.

The soviet press today published lengthy articles describing the soviet pavilion in New York as the outstanding feature of the exhibition. The newspapers said it is making a tremendous impression upon visitors from all sections of America.

Propagandists at Work.

The staff of the pavilion has been trained for more than a year for the task of propagandizing Americans into thinking that the dictatorship of Josef Stalin has solved all of Russia's problems and that the nation, under communist rule, has become an outstanding European power.

While the soviet pavilion was being dedicated in New York residents of Moscow smashed windows of many coöperative shops, demanding that the government place more food on sale. The disorders in Moscow were called the sauerkraut riots. Housewives, who during the last week waited hours in long lines for the privilege of purchasing a kilogram [2.20 pounds] of sauerkraut, became enraged when the supplies of this rare delicacy were exhausted. Some of the women smashed windows of the shops with pots and pans they had brought to carry away their purchases.

No Mention of Arrests.

The Moscow press did not mention the number arrested. Newspapers charged that the food shortage is partly due to inefficient distribution and manipulations of speculators who have succeeded in buying larger quantities through back doors than were sold over the counter to the inhabitants.

Embassies and legations in Moscow reported it is impossible to satisfy even the simplest requirements. Diplomatic couriers, who visit Riga, Tallinn, Helsingfors, and Warsaw each week, are obliged to occupy three and four compartments of sleeping cars to transport provisions, other necessities, and the laundry for the foreign representatives in Moscow. Even the starched shirts of high soviet officials are laundered regularly in Warsaw.

Izvestia, official publication, disclosed a serious shortage of coal for the industries in the regions circling Moscow. The newspaper accused the recently purged railroad systems of Russia as functioning "worse than miserable."

NEW MAP OF U. S. OUT SOON, BUT IS HARD TO OBTAIN

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—A new official map of the United States will be issued June 1. The demand already exceeds the supply. The map is to be issued by the general land office of the interior department out of an appropriation of $10,000. Practically the entire issue of 4,000 will be distributed by congressmen.

Ralph E. Church of Evanston, Ill., representative from the 10th Illinois district, today commented on the problem that this presents to congressmen.

"There are 3,600 maps available after 440 are kept for use of the general land office," he said. "That gives each congressman six. I have many more than six requests for copies now. I am giving none to individuals. In order to place them at the disposal of as many of my constituents as possible I am favoring school and public libraries where a map may be examined by any one interested.

"The superintendent of public documents, government printing office, Washington, may have a limited number for sale at $2 each. Application should be made direct to him."

Honor Haym Salomon at Dinner

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Group on program at dinner given in Stevens hotel last night in honor of Haym Salomon, Revolutionary war patriot. Left to right: The Rev. Duncan H. Browne, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Barnet Hodes, chairman, and Senator Alben W. Barkley, who made address.

LEADERS PRAISE HAYM SALOMON'S GIFT TO FREEDOM

1,400 Hear Patriot of '76 Glorified.

Americans of all creeds united last night to honor Haym Salomon as a forgotten hero of the war for independence. Receipts of a $10 a plate dinner in the Stevens hotel, attended by 1,400 persons, will be used to complete a monument to Salomon, George Washington, and Robert Morris.

Senator Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], majority leader of the senate, was the featured speaker. The audience gave most of its applause to clergymen who spoke for the Jewish, Protestant, and Catholic faiths.

Salomon came to America in 1772 a penniless immigrant. He soon showed such success as a financier and so much enthusiasm for the campaign against the British crown that he became an important figure in the American cause, Senator Barkley said.

Loaned $350,000; Never Repaid.

"When he died he held $350,000 in obligations of the Continental government, for which neither he nor his heirs ever received compensation," the senator said. "He died penniless.

"If this Polish Jew had not devoted his efforts to clothe and feed the Continental army it is doubtful whether the services of many other heroes could have been rendered. Tonight we honor him."

The Rev. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, pointed out that the principles for which Salomon gave his time and money are under fire in most parts of the world today.

Sees Peril to Democracy.

"There are few countries where a meeting such as this could be held," he said. "We should have many more such meetings, because today democracy is threatened not only in the old world but also in the new."

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, discussed the part which suffering played in Salomon's life.

"It was with suffering that this great patriot inscribed his name forever in the struggle for liberty," Bishop Sheil said. "And in the suffering we find on all sides today there is the means of reaching a new and higher level of life."

Other speakers were Mayor Kelly and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, co-chairman with Col. A. A. Sprague of the Patriotic Foundation of Chicago.

IRELAND CHARTER CALLED TRIUMPH FOR DEMOCRACY

British Rule Is Smashed Forever, Congress Told.

British control over Ireland was smashed forever by the creation of the national constitution in 1937, Sean T. O'Kelly, deputy prime minister of Ireland, said yesterday before the International Irish congress in the Morrison hotel. The constitution enabled the Irish to rule themselves for the first time in 700 years, he said.

O'Kelly attended the congress, which began Friday and ended last night, as the personal representative of Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Ireland. Three hundred delegates of Irish descent from all parts of the United States and Canada were present.

People's Mastery Told.

"The national constitution of Ireland is as republican both in substance and in form as the constitution of the United States," O'Kelly told the delegates. "It lays the foundation for a great Christian democracy. Under this constitution the people, and the people only, are the masters."

Ireland still has the major national issue of unifying Ireland and Northern Ireland, which still remains under British rule, O'Kelly asserted.

"If we could achieve the unity of Ireland by using force we would not flinch from that course," he said. "But Ireland wants peace. The partition of our country will not survive the new determination of our people to put an end to it in this generation."

Lauds Chicago's Irish.

Mayor Kelly was among the 500 who heard the deputy prime minister speak at a banquet in the hotel's Terrace casino last night.

"Chicago is a great Irish city," O'Kelly said. "We Irish did much to build it up. We Irish continue to work for its advancement, its progress, and its prosperity and happiness.

"Next fall Prime Minister de Valera expects to come to the United States. And I think he will visit Chicago.

"Five years ago you held in Chicago a great world's fair whose theme was A Century of Progress. In the five years since I think I can justly say that Ireland has herself made a century of progress in her national, social and economic activity."

FINDERS VERSUS KEEPERS

By CALEB

THE new salesmanager had rattled off a number of disheartening statistics. They had to do with the high mortality among what the company had been pleased to call its "customers." The net of these being, as he summarized at the close, that out of every hundred accounts put on the books, within a year's time, thirty were lost.

"In short," he emphasized, "what we are doing is finding business. What we are not doing is keeping business. Each year we must add thirty new accounts to replace the casualties in our original hundred—before we start to get new business in reality. Thirty per cent of our building power is diverted into mere getting effort; and so long as the process is unchanged, we 'backtrack' one step for every two that we advance. Why, if lost motion like that were allowed to exist in the mechanism of our product . . . we most certainly wouldn't have any product!"

The mortality in business remains high for many of the same reasons that casualties and accidents remain high in automobiling. Chief of these, perhaps, is the fact that anyone who can save or borrow the necessary funds can start a business, whether he is temperamentally and experientially qualified for success at it, or not.

Vitally necessary for such success is the ability to keep the initial good will and friendly attitude with which a first-time customer has completed his or her transaction. The article purchased may be trifling . . . the contact established—and its future potentials—are tremendous. That is why many a neighborhood retailer is able to survive and profit despite impressive competition; he emphasizes, and employs, that thrifty virtue in business, too often "more honored in the breach than in the observance," called personal service.

Customer-building is an art whose fundamentals were fixed when the first forge-master in the forest personally wrought the first horseshoes—saw to it that they were right in shape, size and fit—and, if necessary, helped nail them on his patron's beast of burden. The more effort is packed into serving the customer who "is"—the less effort will be dissipated later, in seeking once more a customer who "was"—or a new one to take his or her place.

CONSIDER PLANS TO EASE W. SIDE MOTOR TRAFIC

Council Group Will Study One-Way Systems Today

BY HAL FOUST.

Alternate plans for a one way trafic system west from the loop to the city limits will be considered by a council subcommittee in a series of meetings which will open in the city hall this morning.

Mayor Kelly and President Robert J. Dunham of the Chicago park district look favorably upon this scheme for immediate relief from the hazards and delays encountered by motor travel on the west side.

"These plans," said Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the council trafic committee, "are not substitutes for superhighways. In one respect, they are expedients, in that it will be five or maybe ten years before a superhighway system can be completed. But the benefits would not be temporary, since the one way routes would become valuable auxiliaries after completion of a through trafic system with continuous grade separation."

Legislature Approval Doubtful.

Mayor Kelly's proposal for $100,000,000 worth of superhighway construction in Chicago is pending in the senate in Springfield. Linked with Lieut. Gov. John Stelle's proposal for $40,000,000 worth of secondary road construction downstate, it is doubtful that the enabling legislation will be passed.

The bills would authorize the state to issue $80,000,000 in notes, half to be spent in Chicago, and would authorize Cook county and Chicago each to issue $30,000,000 in notes, all to be retired from future gasoline tax revenues. A joint legislative committee, headed by Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski], has studied these and other highway problems and is to report its findings tomorrow afternoon.

Consultants have told the committee that Chicago needs $100,000,000 worth of superhighway construction but that it might better be financed by current revenue, and that downstate needs $40,000,000 worth of construction, but that the work might be assigned to cities and to main cross-country routes to greater advantage in saving lives and to accommodating travel.

Seeks to Aid West Side.

With this situation in Springfield, the city hall is turning to one way streets as a means of giving the west side prompt trafic relief with permanent benefits. This section of the city lacks any facility comparable with the lake front drives enjoyed by the north and the south sides.

Surveys conducted by Otto K. Jelinek, Chicago park district trafic engineer, have found that residents of the northwest and of the southwest side are detouring to the lake front, adding miles to their trips to and from the loop district, to avoid the crowded and dangerous west side boulevards. This has added to lake front congestion, which is acute on the north side during the current construction in Lincoln park.

The one way plans to be studied by the council subcommittee, which is headed by Ald. Robert C. Quirk [48th], were prepared last year by Mr. Jelinek at the request of Mayor Kelly. The Chicago Motor club has been advocating the adoption of one of them.

Extension Plan Proposed.

One would be an extension eastward and westward of the present one way system in Washington and Warren boulevards between Garfield and Union parks. East to Des Plaines street or to Canal street [or possibly to Michigan avenue eastbound trafic from Warren boulevard would have the use of the full width of Washington boulevard. West bound trafic in this section would use Randolph street, now a broad pavement cluttered with vegetable trucks and illegal parking west of Des Plaines.

Under this plan Washington boulevard west of Garfield park would be used for east bound trafic. West bound would use Maypole avenue and West End avenue to the city limits.

In the alternate plan, Jackson boulevard would be devoted to east bound trafic for its entire distance—from Columbus park on the city limits into Grant park on the lake front. West bound trafic would have the exclusive use of Monroe street from Grant park to Garfield park. West of Garfield park the west bound flow would be in Adams street to Cicero avenue and thence in Quincy street to the city limits.

First Cost Put at $285,143.

Jelinek has estimated that the Jackson and Monroe system could be placed in operation with an expenditure of $285,143. Later suggested refinements, such as easing curves and surfacing pavement, would involve $1,256,384 for construction and $232,400 for property acquisition.

Jelinek estimated the immediate costs of the Washington and Randolph system at $1,618,256 for construction and $333,900 for property acquisition. Additional construction work, which might be deferred, would cost $336,222.

George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club, has planned a cheaper treatment of the Washington-Randolph system which he estimates could be placed in operation for $700,000. It would lack adequate connections with the loop east of Des Plaines street.

The Jackson-Monroe system, in addition to the lower costs, has an advantage of a good eastern terminal in Grant park. Jelinek and Ald. Kells said it would make the lake front and the south end of the loop more accessible to the west side.

Merchants Oppose Plan.

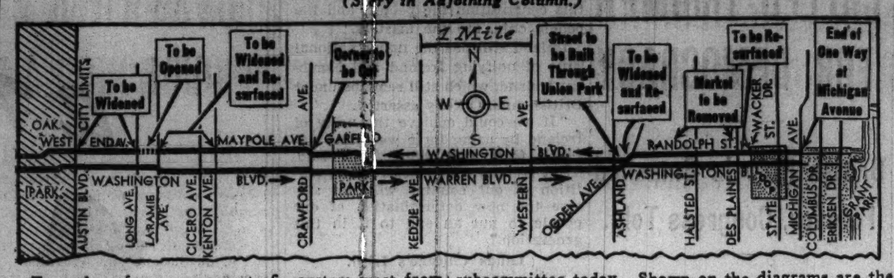
Loop merchants and property owners in Jackson and in Monroe have protested in the past against this one way trafic system in the belief that it would hurt business on these streets. Jelinek's studies have found that one way trafic is safer and more convenient for pedestrians.

Ald. Kells said that it is pedestrians and not motorists who are buyers. The motorists are not buyers until after they have disposed of their cars, he said, and parking must be prohibited in these two downtown streets whether the trafic flow is in one or two directions.

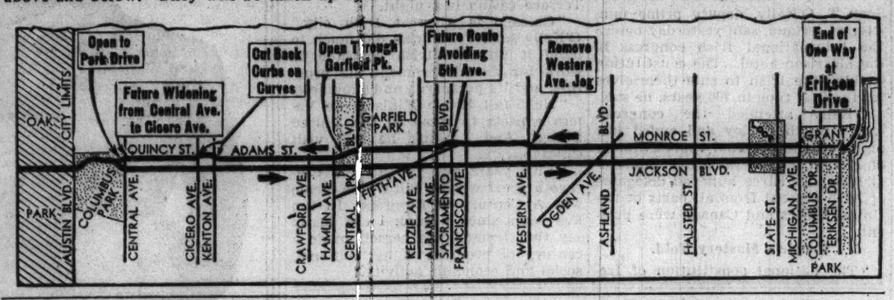
The Chicago Motor club, in its meetings with west side civic groups, has shown a preference for the Washington-Randolph system because the Jackson-Monroe system has been opposed by those advocates of a Congress street superparkway, who believe that any improvement in trafic conditions in this neighborhood will reduce efforts to obtain this slum removal project.

Alternate Plans for West Side Trafic System to Be Studied

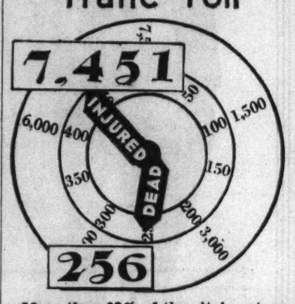
(Story in Adjoining Column.)



Two plans for a one way trafic system west from the loop to the city limits are shown in the diagrams above and below. They will be taken up by a council subcommittee today. Shown on the diagrams are the improvements and changes which would be necessary to convert the streets to one way use.



THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1939 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN UNEXPLAINED CRASH OF 2 CARS

Two men were killed and two other persons were seriously injured early yesterday when two automobiles collided at Narragansett and Belmont avenues.

Those killed were Edward Maskell, 23 years old, 6952 Wolfram street, driver of one car, and his companion, William Dennis Dooling Jr., 23, of 7039 Wolfram street. The injured are Joseph Scheer, 23, of 2834 North Lockwood avenue, the other driver, and his wife, Frances, 20. They were taken to St. Anne hospital. Police were unable to learn how the accident happened.

Charles Horban, 27, was arrested in his home at 2802 Emerald avenue yesterday a few hours after his automobile critically injured Casimer Mjlanowski, 28, 2234 West 21st place, at Archer avenue and Bonfield street. Witnesses obtained the license number of Horban's car. Horban admitted fleeing after the accident because he was nervous, police said.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 327 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 256 were killed in Chicago, where 7,451 were injured in the same period.

4 BABIES HAVE WARTS, BUT MAX IS PRETTY PROUD

The grunt of Max, the wart hog at Brookfield zoo, took on a proud note yesterday. Inside the pen were his four lively new babies—looking just like their father. They are believed to be the first wart hogs born in captivity. Slim, the porcupine papa, couldn't be sure, but he believed he had some children, too. Sarah, his mate, hovered over their nest as stiff as a pine cone. Once or twice a speckled ball of fur peeked out from beneath her quills. Mrs. Bebe Hippo and her baby, which is two days old, spent the day swimming.

PUPILS TOLD HOW TO GET THROUGH SUMMER ALIVE

"Don't play too near the curbing, nor in the street."

"Don't throw your bat after you make a hit in a ball game."

"Don't hop off or on moving vehicles."

"Don't play with cap pistols, fire, or fireworks."

Those and other don'ts will be the subjects of safety lessons in all Chicago schools this week. Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson yesterday suggested that all teachers warn their pupils of the dangers accompanying outdoor play.

"We want the children to enjoy the outdoors during the spring afternoons and summer vacation. But we hope that the accidents which frequently occur during outdoor play will be reduced this year," the superintendent said.

Part of the safety lesson will include a discussion of the grief to parents when children are injured

BARBER WHO RAN NONUNION SHOP DIES OF CLUBBING

Thomas Smyth, 52 years old, 5412 Ridgewood court, died yesterday in the Hines Memorial hospital from a skull fracture suffered May 17 when he was attacked near his home by two men. One of them hit him on the head with an iron bar.

Smyth operated a non-union barber shop in the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A., 1400 East 53d street. Police were making an investigation to determine if he was attacked for that reason. Sergt. William Ryan of the Hyde Park station said Smyth stated he did not know who beat him or why.

23 PLANES CRASH BUT 'PILOTS' WALK OFF WITH HONORS

First Gas Model Meet in Parks Is Success.

Twenty-three planes crashed to earth at the Westchester airport yesterday. One plane, taking off in a high wind, swerved sideways and hurtled into the side of a parked truck. Another, attempting to land with a dead motor, plunged through a rope barricade and into a group of spectators.

Yet no one was injured. For the planes were models, competing in the first gasoline model airplane contest sponsored by the Chicago Park District Model Airplane association. More than 200 planes were entered.

Five Thousand Witness Flights.

Five thousand spectators watched the model planes drone through the air, their tiny motors sputtering and roaring. Many planes were 4 to 5 feet long and climbed to 300 feet on the 15 second motor run allowed under rules of the contest. Then, with motors dead, they would glide a quarter of a mile before landing.

Not all of the contestants were youthful. One of the finest models was entered by Walter Addems, chief pilot of the United Airlines, who designs and builds miniature motors and planes. Dr. George Covington, 5121 South Union avenue, a dentist, also entered a plane. Another adult contestant was Miles Stone, a physics teacher in the Joliet Township High school.

Any person owning a gasoline model plane was eligible. The contest was divided into three divisions: Under 16 years, 16 to 21 years, and over 21. Contestants were graded on the number of official flights of a minute or more their models made during the marathon, which ran from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Thirteen Flights Is Tops.

The winners:

Open division—First place, Joseph Konefes, 22 years old, 4426 North Kilbourn avenue, thirteen flights; second, place, M. C. Burley, 30, of 4576 Moody avenue, eight flights; third place, George Ohlander, 22, of 6150 Newport avenue, six flights.

Senior division—First place, Edward Konefes, 18, of 4426 North Kilbourn avenue, ten flights; second place, Alvin Anderson, 20, of 3451 North Wolcott avenue, seven flights; third place, Paul Dugan, 17, of Grand Crossing, Mich., three flights.

Junior division—First place, Donald McShane, 13, of 864 Nelson street, two flights; second place, Fred Childs, 15, 7235 Euclid avenue, one flight.

Prizes will be presented to the winners at the airplane and hobby exhibit which will be held June 2, in Kosciuszko park.

REOPEN STATE STREET TO TRAFIC; SINKS DUE TO SUBWAY REPAIRED

Street car service was resumed yesterday in State street between Chicago avenue and Superior street following the correction of subway construction difficulties in front of the Holy Name cathedral.

Street paving sank several inches Friday night because of a sewer erosion cavity and pressure exerted on the subway bore by the shoring up of a building. It was necessary to detour street cars and motor trafic.

Workers filled the sewer erosion cavity with concrete and strengthened the subway bore with new supports. The sunken paving was raised.

Frank J. Herlihy, whose company is digging the subway, warned property owners along State street yesterday to beware of solicitors with big rolls of blue prints who are trying to induce them to reënforce their buildings. He said there is no cause for alarm, that the subway is insured, and that he would be the first to notify and help property owners if their buildings require reënforcing.

Everything seems smooth-sailing . . . you're alert, confident, at ease . . . when you hit your inner stride!

Then—to help clear the way for healthy peristalsis—you may need a gentle but thorough flushing-out. The kind you get with Eno!

Eno has fluid-action

Eno brings moisture from other parts of the body down to the intestines . . . where extra fluid is needed to flush away waste. It also exerts a mild stimulation. Eno's fluid-action relieves you quickly, easily. Now normal elimination has a chance. You can get back on stride!

An "alkalizer", too

Eno is also used to help neutralize excess stomach acids. You'll welcome its "alkalizing" effect. You'll like its sparkling, refreshing taste.

REVIEW GRABER AND SBARBARO BENCH RECORDS

Run for Vacancies on Their Municipal Records.

[This is the fourteenth article in a series on candidates in the Cook county judicial election of June 5. Careers of candidates for short term vacancies are now being reviewed.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Municipal Judge Joseph A. Graber has the distinction of being the first jurist to preside in two new branches of the court—the woman's division and the automobile theft division. He is a Democrat and is now a candidate on the party's ticket for the two and a half year term in the Superior court left vacant by the death of Judge James J. Kelly. Twenty-one sitting judges, eight of them Republicans, are running for reëlection on that slate.

Judge Graber was assigned to the woman's branch of the Municipal court when it was created in 1932 to replace the morals branch. The court's purpose is to extend a helping hand to unfortunate women. Judge Graber was credited with reducing the exploitation of prostitutes by bondsmen and panders and with decreasing the number of cases arising out of petty quarrels between neighbors.

Helps Curb Auto Thefts.

He took over the automobile theft court when it was established in 1934. A year later he was praised by the state's attorney's office, the crime commission, and automobile dealers for his coöperation with police and state officials in reducing the number of auto thefts.

While sitting in Boys' court early this year, he advocated a new way of dealing with young lawbreakers. Under his plan, first offenders would be given responsible tasks in their communities in an effort to straighten them out.

In 1936 Judge Graber allowed William [Big Boy] Cannady, Democratic precinct captain, to sign bond without surety for Willie Sherman, a pickpocket with a twenty year police record. Sherman jumped bond, was arrested in Detroit after a stabbing affray, and was brought back to Chicago and sent to the penitentiary for one to twenty years. Cannady was sentenced to ten days in jail.

Indorsed by Bar Committee.

Judge Graber is 54 years old and lives at 8201 Elizabeth street with his wife and five sons. He was born in Mineral Point, Wis., and received his degree from the Illinois College of Law in 1906. He was attorney for the sheriff's office from 1915 to 1919 and from 1928 to 1930. He was elected to the Municipal court in 1930 and reelected in 1936, both times receiving the indorsement of the bar association.

In the present campaign the bar committee on candidates called him well qualified for office. The committee said he possessed the proper temperament and capacity and has high ideals of service. He was also indorsed by the lawyers themselves, receiving 1,430 votes out of 2,083 ballots in the poll of association members.

Run for Vacancies

(Story in Adjoining Column.)

John Sbarbaro (left), a Republican and former Municipal court judge, and Municipal Judge Joseph A. Graber, a Democrat, both of whom are candidates for Superior court vacancies.

JOHN SBARBARO IN RACE

John Sbarbaro, Republican, is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the one year vacancy in the Superior court resulting from the death of Judge Walter P. Steffen. Sbarbaro is a former judge of the Municipal court and has been prominent in Italian-American activities in Chicago.

The bar association committee on candidates said he possesses fair legal ability and classified him as qualified for office. He was further described as being diligent and possessing judicial temperament. The lawyers indorsed him in their election, giving him 1,031 votes in 2,083 ballots.

Sbarbaro was born in Chicago forty-nine years ago. He was educated at four universities and the Hamilton college of law, receiving his degree from the latter in 1920. From 1921 to 1926 he was an assistant state's attorney under Robert E. Crowe.

On Municipal Bench in 1926.

He was elected to the Municipal court in 1926, but was defeated for reelection in 1932. In the latter campaign the bar committee said there was a division of opinion among lawyers on his service, but the committee believed he was qualified for office.

During the gang wars in 1925, while Sbarbaro was an assistant prosecutor, a threat on his life was reported. In 1928 an undertaking establishment in which he was a partner was damaged by a bomb.

Sbarbaro headed the civic committee which arranged the welcome to Marshal Italo Balbo on his flight from Rome to Chicago during the 1933 Century of Progress exposition.

Sbarbaro is married and lives at 708 North Wells street.

JUDGE CRAMPTON LONG IN DEMAND FOR DUTY IN CITY

Republican Candidate for State Supreme Court.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Moline, Ill., May 21.—[Special.]—Judge Albert M. Crampton, Republican candidate for the Illinois Supreme court in the 4th district and for 8 years city judge of Moline, has had most of his judicial experience in Chicago. His services have been in demand in the Circuit and Superior courts of Cook county when judges are brought in from the country.

Judge A. M. Crampton.

Judge John P. McGoorty, veteran jurist, brought him to the bench in Chicago shortly after his election here. Crampton has been going back at intervals ever since. In that eight years experience in Chicago he has had only one reversal by the Appellate court, a record of which his friends boast in this campaign.

In addition Judge Crampton during his bench tenure has been called upon at times to preside over the County Probate and Circuit courts of Rock Island County and the Circuit courts of Henry and Mercer counties. The City court of Moline has concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit court within the city.

Strong Constitutionalist.

Thus Crampton's friends declare that as a candidate for the state high bench he is equipped with both metropolitan and smaller city experience as a jurist. Problems in the great industrial centers and in the countryside are different, as experts in jurisprudence have long pointed out.

He is a strong constitutionalist. One high light of his career was his race for the Circuit court in November, 1936, to fill a vacancy. Crampton charged, in his speeches, that President Roosevelt had in mind a court packing policy, to gain control of the United States Supreme court.

His opponents countered by reprinting editorials from eastern New Deal newspapers saying that no serious minded man would say that Roosevelt entertained any such idea. Crampton kept pouring it on, however, arguing that to pack the courts would destroy the structure of our government. Roosevelt carried Rock Island county by 13,000. Crampton ran far ahead of his ticket, but lost for judge. Then a few months later he was vindicated as a prophet when the Roosevelt Supreme court packing proposal was made.

Begins Practice in 1923.

Judge Crampton comes of old pioneer stock in this region. He was born in a frame house in Moline, Jan. 7, 1900. His father, George W. Crampton, was born and reared on a farm near Crampton, sometimes known as Sunny Hill, near Orion, in Henry county. The village of Crampton was named after the judge's grandfather, a pioneer settler. The judge's father entered the employ of Deere & Mansure, Moline, as a mailing clerk fifty-five years ago, and at the age of 75 is still active, with fifty-five years of continuous service for John Deere. He is one of the executives.

After Moline high school Judge Crampain studied law at Cornell university, the University of Wisconsin and Harvard. He entered law practice here in 1923.

He is married and the father of four children, Gertrude, 12 years old; Katharyn, 10; George, 8; Charles Albert, 3. Family pictures garnish the campaign. Judge Loren E. Murphy, Democratic opponent of Crampton, has eight children. Sometimes this is brought up jocularly in the campaigning.

NONPARTISAN GROUP TO DISCUSS JUDICIAL ELECTION WEDNESDAY

The first meeting of a newly organized Citizens' Nonpartisan Judicial Campaign committee, which is to support the nominees on the Democratic ticket in the election two weeks from today will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the Palmer House.

Henry F. Tenney, chairman, announced that 150 men and women prominent in civic, professional, business, industrial and labor activities in Cook county have accepted membership on the committee. The list is headed with the names of George A. Richardson, trustee of the Field estate; Oscar F. Mayer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Peter B. Carey, former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, former president of the Woman's City club.

"We have organized," said Chairman Tenney, "to preserve the tradition of nonpartisanship which has been invoked for more than fifty years by the people of Cook county to keep the courts free of political domination."

CHOOSINC INDEPENDENT JUDGES.

The independence of the judiciary is a cardinal principle of our form of government. Its acceptance was solid when the federal constitution prescribed the separation of powers, dating back through colonial times to the fall of the Stuart kings. How that, independence is to be guaranteed is another matter.

The selection of judges for life, conditioned by good behavior on the bench, was general in the half century following adoption of the federal constitution, but in the states it has been rather generally abandoned for nearly a century. Illinois abandoned the system in 1848.

But the principle that judges should not be removed except for cause has properly survived life tenure. This principle can be observed when judges are elected for specific terms by the reelection of all judges who have not given cause for removal, and in the last ninety years it has been so observed in an overwhelming number of instances in this state.

While some of the sitting judges of the Circuit court who come up for reëlection on June 5 have been subject to criticism, their critics in no case have backed their charges with such concrete evidence as would subject the judge to impeachment. Such being the case, the sitting judges as a group have a strong claim to reëlection.

At the same time the views of the bar, which by training and contact is best able to appraise judicial ability and integrity, are not to be discounted. The Chicago Bar association has appraised the services of the sitting judges and the qualifications of other candidates and conducted a poll of its membership. The poll resulted in the indorsement by the organized bar of the city of fifteen of the twenty sitting Circuit judges and of the one sitting Superior court judge who are candidates for reëlection.

THE TRIBUNE considers that these sixteen judges have an overwhelming claim to reëlection and it recommends their reëlection. As to the five remaining posts in the Circuit court the voters have their choice between the five judges now sitting, who failed to receive the indorsement of the bar, and the five candidates whom the bar has indorsed to succeed them. For the five Superior court vacancies voters will be wise to be governed by the bar association indorsements, particularly in the four contests in which those indorsements were voted by very large majorities.

A sketch of every judicial candidate will have appeared in THE TRIBUNE before the election. Full publicity has been given to the activities of the bar association in arriving at its recommendations. Before the election THE TRIBUNE will print for the information of voters a ballot listing sitting judges who are indorsed by the bar, the remaining sitting judges, and the candidates other than sitting judges whom the bar association recommends.

ORANGE AND BLUE STAMPS.

After vast mental effort the department of agriculture has come up with what is called a new plan to get rid of surpluses. The department has decided that it can't sell the surpluses and accordingly is giving them away. This, of course, is not a new idea. It has been employed for some time in the disposal of oranges, butter, and some other commodities to those on relief.

The difference is a matter of detail and of somewhat complicated detail. The scheme as it has been instituted in Rochester permits the person on relief to buy orange colored stamps with his dole money and these stamps can be exchanged in grocery stores for anything sold there except intoxicants and tobacco. And along with every dollar's worth of orange stamps the reliefer gets a bonus of 50 cents' worth of blue stamps and these are good only for the purchase of surplus commodities. The blue stamps at present are exchangeable for butter, eggs, flour, dried beans, prunes, corn meal, and citrus fruits.

The pundits of the department are a little more cautious than they used to be and are not certain that the scheme will work. They are limiting the experiment to Rochester for the present. If the results there are satisfactory the zone of operations will be extended to other cities.

Just what test will be applied in determining whether the new arrangement is a success is not yet clear. The department may be satisfied if the reliefers in Rochester eat their way into the government's food hoard. That might satisfy short-sighted farmers also, but it would not prove of much value to the taxpayers. They bought the food hoard and they are paying for the dole. The increase in the dole means heavier relief costs. As the tax burden is now the cause of business stagnation, the increase in that burden can only make matters worse. The more that is taken from the taxpayers the more certain it becomes that the reliefers will be unable to find work.

There are a number of reasons for the accumulation of unsold agricultural products and the most important of them is the depression which Mr. Roosevelt has nursed along all these years. He has penalized enterprise and investment until today the banks have 4¼ billion dollars of excess reserves, idle money that is not working because the millions who own it distrust the administration. If it were not for that fear business activity in this country would go ahead with a rush, employment would increase, and real progress would be achieved against both unemployment and farm distress.

WORK BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

The Democratic leaders in the senate and house are reported in agreement on the adjournment of congress by July 10 or earlier.

This arrangement will be generally welcomed in the country on two conditions. The first is that congress will have time enough between now and July 10 to enact the changes in the tax laws suggested a few days ago by Senator Harrison, chairman of the finance committee. The other reservation concerns the so-called neutrality laws. If there is any chance that Mr. Roosevelt's powers to embroil the country in a foreign war will be increased if the adjournment is set as late as July 10, an earlier date should be agreed upon.

So far as the tax laws are concerned, it is now clear, if there ever was any doubt on the point, that present methods of taxing corporations are among the most important influences which are prolonging the depression and preventing recovery. Money for investment is plentiful and interest rates are as low as they have ever been in this country's history, but the nation's need for new productive facilities is not being met chiefly because of the Roosevelt policy of penalizing success and sound management.

The tax on corporate savings must go if the idle money of the country is to be diverted into capital goods as must be done if we are to be prosperous. The risks of business are always great. If a corporation may not accumulate money in good times to meet the inevitable losses of hard times, the probability of bankruptcy is increased to the point where money will not be ventured. Congress understands this. So does Mr. Morgenthau. Mr. Roosevelt and his brain trusters are alone in their opposition to the amendment of the law.

Unfortunately this congress has shown little disposition to reduce expenditures and thereby reduce the total exactions of the tax collector. The country cannot fully recover from the depression as long as taxes consume so large a share of the nation's income, but much encouragement would follow from amendment of the most burdensome of the taxes on business along the lines proposed in Mr. Harrison's memorandum. The relaxing of the capital gains provisions and the extension of the period over which a year's losses may be reckoned against profits are particularly deserving of congressional approval.

In view of the familiarity of congressmen generally with the tax problem it should be possible to enact the Harrison program by July 10. The session, however, should not be prolonged to permit Mr. Roosevelt to tinker with the neutrality laws. They are far from satisfactory as they stand, but there can be no doubt that if he has his way he will be given what will amount to the power to put our country into a European war if one develops. He desires the power to name the aggressor countries and discriminate against them and in favor of the other warring nations. Congress would still retain the formal power to declare war, but the President could so manipulate events that the vote for war would become a bare formality.

Mr. Roosevelt has already shown by his act in furthering the purchase of airplanes in this country by France and his belligerent speeches and notes abusing Germany, Italy, and Japan that he has already made up his mind about America's rôle in any forthcoming European war. He doesn't wish to preserve our position of independence; he wishes us to be an active participant and if he gets the powers he craves he will use them in a fashion which can hardly fail to embroil us.

Congress cannot adjourn too late to amend the tax laws nor too soon to prevent the administration from pushing the country into a war from which we stand to lose much and gain nothing.

AGE AND MUSIC.

[Baltimore Sun.]

"What are the chronological ages at which men are most likely to compose delightful and immortal music?" It is this interesting question which Prof. Harvey C. Lehman of the department of psychology and Prof. De Forest W. Ingerham of the department of music of Ohio university seek to answer in a paper, "Man's Creative Years in Music," in the May Scientific Monthly.

Those who wish to learn the writers' means of choosing their data and to examine their statistical treatment of it must read the article in full. Here it will suffice to summarize some of their findings.

On the basis of the record they have compiled it would appear that the peak ages of "maximum productivity" for important composers of the past lie between the thirty-first and fortieth years of life. Division of musical writings into different categories exposes some curious variations.

For example, in the composition of grand opera it was found that for Italians the years of maximum productivity were between the ages of 35 and 39, while for composers of German, French, and "other" nationalities maximum productivity was attained between 30 and 34. But "best loved" grand operas—those which the operagoer is most likely to hear—were most frequently composed by men of ages 35 to 39, inclusive.

What the authors call "orchestral music," cantatas, sacred choral music, and chamber music have also been most frequently composed between the ages of 35 and 39. On the other hand, symphonies and vocal solos of distinction have been more often written by men of 30 to 34 years of age. "Instrumental selections" [mostly piano and violin pieces] seem to be a field in which men between the ages of 25 and 29 have excelled; while in light opera the advantage lies with composers between 40 and 44.

Contemporary music, treated as a separate category, reveals a surprising departure from the past. The writers find that for the 1,286 "outstanding works" written by 121 American musicians between 1912 and 1932, as selected and listed in Claire Reis' "American Composers," the "age curve attains its peak at ages 50 to 54, inclusive." However, in this instance final judgment on the merits of the compositions has not yet been rendered.

The authors refuse to draw conclusions from their findings, but their study does seem to indicate that maturity is reached rather early in life in the case of important creative musical gifts. Ambitious youth might reasonably decide on this evidence that it is wise to get as early a start as possible if it hopes to rival the achievements of the great masters.

We often dine on a high ledge of a tower where twenty feet of casement windows give us a wide view of the lake, the harbor, and the mouth of the river—a noble panorama from which the shabby shore line is canceled. Here, in the long bright evenings of daylight saving, we watch the ships come and go. We have marked the end of one economic depression, from this point, and the beginning of another, merely by counting plumes of smoke from ore boats of the Calumet region.

A few days ago we saw a trim craft, unlike the usual slab sided Great Lakes cargo carrier, turn into the river. She had a salt water look.

"What do you make of her?" we asked, and the Man Who Had Worked the Boats in youth answered after one glance:

"Norwegian." [Taborfjell of Oslo.]

"What kind of a cargo?"

"Miscellaneous. . . . Maybe some bottles that will end their lives at your table. Wine importers often use those boats."

"She's the first European craft of the season, perhaps."

"No; a couple of Danes came in last month."

Some day we shall go aboard one of these wanderers from the North Atlantic and get a taste of marine life at the dock. [They usually tie up at Navy pier or hide away in Ogden Slip.] It's about time somebody took an interest in Chicago as a seaport. This matter does not seem to be on the agenda of the nine commercial leaders who form the Greater Chicago committee.

THE HOME TOWN PAPER.

There's something like a lilac breath in spring
Exhaled from these fen pages; sunbeams play
Round unassuming paragraphs that bring
A peace to one who treads an urban way.
Where rank and pelf are stressed in heavy tones,
And life becomes a seething, troubled sea,
'Tis sweet to learn that dear old Sarah Jones
Had Thursday's tea with Mrs. Jim Frazee.
I somehow thrill to read that Henry Ware
Replaced the wornout shingles on his house;
And that the Smith girl, long considered fair,
Last week took young Tom Applegate to spouse.
Simple though these items are, and trite,
They make for me a sweeter sleep tonight.

In Memory of Frank Moulan.

Yes, he was a tradition of the rich comic opera period of the Studebaker theater, and a strong pillar in Henry Savage's temple of lyrical comedies. Frank Moulan's old admirers will be grateful for your words of praise [May 18].

Many golden memories he leaves of his quaintness, his agility, his fine sense of comedy. His Maj. Gen. Stanley, Sir Joseph Porter, and Coquelicot, and e'en the Mise in "The Chimes of Normandy" were excellent portrayals.

One of the irksome things sometimes is the manner in which some people speak of opera in English as if it rarely happened in Chicago. Any one who used to attend the light and grand operas given by Savage's company has a memory and knowledge of opera in English that will probably not be surpassed in this or the succeeding generation.

How Chicago Got Its Nickname.

Chicago is not the windiest city by about seventeen others. The question then arises how it got its breezy reputation. The answer, of course, is skyscrapers. Every student of aerodynamics knows that a projection into an air stream causes a partial vacuum at its base and that the wind rushes in at a terrific speed.

When the Masonic Temple was first built into the sky it caused a rush of air along State street comparable to no other in a metropolitan district. Visitors thought that it was caused by excessive wind velocities in the Chicago area.

The Class in Architecture.

Your "mansard roof principle of the Masonic Temple design" [May 13] compels me to warn you to beware of technical terms in architecture. That building was topped with two gabled roofs running east and west, and these were connected on the west by a pitched roof, the ridge of which bordered a deck. There was no sign on that building of what is technically known as a "mansard."

This roof was not reproduced on the Woman's Temple building, as you state. That was of a hipped roof type with pavilions joined by a pitched roof.

An Old Fisherman's Last Catch.

[Clipped from the Peoria Star.]

Eugene Babb, 73, was an old riverman who lived on Big Island in the Mississippi river not far from Carman, Ill. Last week he pulled his skiff up to the landing for the last time. Carefully he laid his oars beside him. Then, sitting in his old boat, alone, he cradled his head in his arms and went to sleep. Five days later some fishermen came by and found him. His trailing fish line had a fish on it.

THE FIGHT AGAINST CANCER CONTINUES.

WHILE many maladies have responded to some spectacular discovery, others have defied the combined efforts of research students the world over. Nevertheless, even against the worst scourge of human life and happiness—cancer—some inroads have been made. Working together, the surgeon and the radiologist have accomplished cures which a generation ago would have been incredible. While we are all impatient at the slowness of our advance, each year brings to light a new point of attack.

There is always danger in discussing this dread subject because suggestion plays an important rôle with each of us. It may be well to state, therefore, that many of the popular conceptions of the cause have no basis in fact. It is not brought on by eating tomatoes, food that has been stored in an electric refrigerator, or cooked in an aluminum stew pan. No one can worry himself into cancer—or out of it, for that matter. There is no saving grace in serums, any kind of medicine, or hocus pocus such as carrying a chestnut in the pocket or wearing a horseshoe ring. One thing needs to be emphasized over and over again—namely, it is not contagious. You can't catch it by caring for a victim nor by living in the same house. It is about as communicable as a broken leg. The explanation is that it is not a germ disease.

Unfortunately, in the very early stages there may be no pain, no bleeding, and no sign of a tumor. In other words, the ailment may creep upon us slyly, slowly, and without warning. All of this signifies that as soon as symptoms become obvious, immediate action is required. Delay gives the outlaw elements an opportunity to radiate to remote and hidden parts of the body where they cannot be reached. In consequence, those who are past middle life, particularly, should arrange for an annual physical inventory. More often than not suspicions may be dismissed, but if anything is found the chances are that it will not be too late to take the proper measures for eradication.

As yet we do not know why certain cells strike off on a wild tangent. It has been learned, however, that irritation is a factor. A jagged tooth that is constantly jabbing into the cheek, the gums, or the tongue may be the inciting agent within the mouth. Trouble in the stomach may be associated with an unhealed ulcer of long standing and there is some reason for believing that those who are accustomed to use strong condiments with every meal—peppers, mustard, and hot sauces—are more likely to develop gastric lesions.

If tar or crude oil is rubbed into the epidermis of an experimental animal for a prolonged period, that area may undergo degeneration. Curiously enough, moles or slightly raised lesions which are blue-black or dark brown in shade, may start to grow suddenly. This is frequently the result of some mechanical disturbance such as chafing from clothing. Physicians routinely caution their patients to report promptly the appearance of any new lump or enlargement of a previously observed blemish. Furthermore, a sore which does not heal in the ordinary time should be investigated. Cancer of this type yields readily to X-ray or radium.

Skilled surgery offers the remedy of choice in the internal form. If discovered at the outset, complete removal is not difficult. The excision of the involved tissue is relatively minor compared to what may follow its spread. It is easy to extirpate a local affair, whereas one which has been active for months or years may have progressed beyond repair.

Medical men are becoming more expert in the recognition of cancer. But every sufferer must make certain that he is in skilled hands, as health, even life, is at stake. If we can view the whole question calmly without fear or apprehension, if every one will profit by the knowledge which he possesses we can reduce by nearly 50 per cent the misery occasioned by this plague. There is promise that some day—and we hope soon—means will be found not only of detecting its presence positively, but of arresting and imprisoning these pirate cells.

ESTATE PROBATE.

Riverside, Ill., May 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any necessity for probate of an estate where a husband dies, leaving no will, when the estate consists only of a house in joint tenancy and some building and loan shares, also joint, and some household goods?

2. Can the widow sell the house and give a clear title without probate?

3. On the building and loan shares it is demanded by the building and loan company that a consent from the Illinois attorney general be secured for transfer of these joint shares to her name regardless of their having been issued and held jointly. Is this necessary?

4. If it is necessary, can she secure this consent by writing to the attorney general without necessity of hiring an attorney? F. C.

1. We see no necessity for probate on the bare facts stated.

2. Yes. We assume that the value is not large enough to involve an inheritance tax on the one-half that passes by survivorship.

3. Yes.

4. We see no harm in her writing to the attorney general obtaining the printed forms and instructions and then deciding for herself whether she has the capacity and experience to carry on.

PAYLES' VACATIONS.

Chicago, May 18.—Just a few lines to protest the two weeks' payless vacations for our firemen and policemen. Why should they pay the city's bills? They are underpaid right now considering their uniforms, house expense, benevolence, and what not. They all have families, and most of them are scraping along now. What good is a vacation without pay—and just show me how they can go along a full month without a pay in between. A large percentage are still paying off loans and interest for the borrowing they were compelled to make during their last payless pay days. B-U-N-K.

JUDGES WHO ARE TARDY.

Chicago, May 16.—It has happened to me often in the last few years, when I had been called to be in the Municipal court at a certain time, let's say 9:30 a. m. or 2 p. m., that the judge was not there and that he was not there even half an hour later. I have never heard the judge, when he finally arrived, excuse himself.

This reminds me of a story of the Prussian king, father of Frederic the Great. A postmaster at the gates of Berlin let the people who wanted to use the stagecoach wait while he slept. The king heard about it and one morning he also waited in front of the house. After the time had passed and the postmaster did not appear, the king himself took stones and bombarded the postmaster's house. Afterward the king got the postmaster out and whipped him badly. He then excused himself to the waiting passengers that his employé had so neglected his duty. The postmaster was then replaced by somebody else.

I realize, of course, that those were barbarian times and that Chicago judges must have valid reasons to be late, but how about excusing themselves?

REPLIES TO DR. FISHBEIN.

Chicago, May 19.—As to Dr. Morris Fishbein's statement that your editorial, which deplored the barring of Negro physicians from the American Medical association, conveyed false impressions. Assuming [without admitting] that "many hundreds of Negro physicians now hold membership," would he contend that the average Negro physician seeking membership is admitted as is any other physician? I think not.

Certainly then the impression that a distinction is made based solely upon color was not a false impression.

The compromising attitude of Dr. Fishbein is singularly disappointing when we consider that he is a member of a minority group which knows from experience the injustices of the quota system of some of our leading medical schools and the unfairness of other forms of arbitrary discrimination.

SUBWAY TROUBLE AHEAD?

Winnetka, Ill., May 18.—Anent the current news items telling of the sinking of State street near Chicago avenue: It is lamentable that Chicago should attempt to duplicate the subways of New York, which are cuts through solid rock. State street and Chicago avenue are only the beginning of construction and the sinking of State street the first of a series of events that have cast their shadows before.

JOHN A. HOFF.

VOICE OF A MECHANIC.

Chicago, May 17.—In THE TRIBUNE today appeared an article about a growing shortage of mechanics in this country. Trade schools give a glowing account of the good jobs to be had, but the students are disillusioned after paying the cost of tuition and completing the courses, only to find no jobs at a fair wage to be had.

The lot of a mechanic is becoming harder and harder the longer this communistic minded administration remains in power. Machinists are quitting the trade to become janitors, milk wagon drivers, and even getting jobs on the WPA, as wages there are higher than at their trade. Under this so-called "New Deal" there is no inducement for a young fellow to learn a trade. All you need is a shovel, broom, or a mop. Why spend money for expensive tools you cannot use?

Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, deplores the fact that young fellows are averse to learning to be mechanics. He should not worry, for if this country should become involved in a war barbers, waiters, and even dancing instructors will become machinists, as they did in the last war, to escape the draft, so we'll not lack mechanics, such as they are. CHARLES W. TODD.

SCURRILOUS? DESPICABLE?

Chicago, May 18.—The writer objects to this morning's article headed "Snubbed Senate Wives Storm for Royal Party Bids." It places in a ridiculous light the senators and their wives who are not included in Lady Lindsay's invitation list to the embassy's garden party to meet the king and queen. The suggestion that failure to receive an invitation might influence the vote in the senate if war should come is simply scurrilous. Personally I do not believe, nor will the majority of Americans believe, that there is an envy displayed, and it is a despicable thing for your paper to disseminate such an impression.

Two thousand snowbirds [American finches], trapped to make an entrée for their majesties, when as every one knows [except the Canadians], that the English people are noted for their humaneness to animal and bird life.

PROBLEMS HERE AT HOME.

Chicago, May 18.—I see in your yesterday issue that the people in Germany cannot use cream for their strawberries because such cream is used for butter making. Please, is not the use of cream nowadays a luxury, too, for many Americans? And how many people in our good city of Chicago without work are unable to buy sufficient plain milk for their hungry children? Only yesterday a case was reported of a father without work begging for milk to feed his 3 month old baby, and this in our dear United States of America with all its richness!

Until our domestic condition is remedied to a certain extent, let us work toward solution of our own problems.

GIRL ART STUDENT SHOT TO DEATH AT DRINKING PARTY

Gun Is Discharged While Escort Examines It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 21.—[Special.]—Jane Union, 21 years old, a student at the Cleveland School of Art, was shot accidentally and killed early today in a small lake front cottage on Lakeview road, in Mentor Headlands.

The gun was in the hands of Daniel Boza, an instructor in the Cleveland School of Art and an artist widely known for his murals. He was awarded the prix de Rome in 1933, an honor which entitled him to three years' study at the American academy in Rome.

Couples Had Been Drinking.

Boza and Miss Union were visiting George Svehla, 29 years old, a teacher in West Technical High school, and his wife, Eleanor, 27. The two couples had been drinking, according to deputy sheriffs, who learned while investigating the shooting of the recent secret marriage of the Svehlas. There had been no quarrel, the three survivors of the party agreed.

Both Boza and Svehla are special deputy sheriffs of Cuyahoga county. Boza, who has made a hobby of collecting firearms and other old weapons, was examining a pistol when it was discharged, the bullet striking Miss Union in the temple. Two other guns were lying on the table when deputies arrived. Boza was staring at the form of Miss Union, who lay upon the floor beside the table.

Inquest Is Unlikely.

Miss Union was taken to a hospital at Painesville, O., where she died a few hours later without regaining consciousness. Coroner James G. Powell announced tonight that in all probability an inquest will not be held.

MONTH OLD BABY IN JAIL; PARENTS HELD AS KILLERS

Stanford, Ky., May 21.—(AP)—County Judge John Menifee today announced that a month old girl will remain in a jail cell with her parents, both charged with murder, pending grand jury investigation of a constable's slaying.

The mother, Mrs. Reba Simpson, 22 years old, is accused of shooting Constable Larkin Stapleton, 69, on a crowded street at nearby Crab Orchard, Ky., yesterday while holding the baby with one arm.

Judge Menifee said Mrs. Simpson and her husband, Everett Simpson, 24 year old tenant farmer, attacked the officer when he attempted to stop them from quarreling. Simpson is accused of shooting Stapleton as he lay on the street, felled by a shot fired by Mrs. Simpson.

The judge said he first planned to have the county health department take care of the baby, but decided to let her stay with her parents. "The county nurse advised me it would be pretty risky to separate such a tiny baby from its mother," Judge Menifee said.

DELINQUENT TAX DRIVE LAUNCHED BY TRADE GROUP

The Chicago Association of Commerce today will launch a drive to aid public officials in clearing up the delinquent tax situation. The association, it was announced yesterday, will form a special delinquent tax committee to coöperate with local governments in curbing mounting delinquent real estate taxes which now amount to nearly $500,000.

"The burden of current taxes is larger because owners of real property subject to heavy delinquent taxes pay no taxes whatever," said a statement of the association's executive committee.

"Unless vigorous steps are taken to clear the delinquent tax situation there will be an ever-increasing pressure from delinquent property owners for wholesale relief in their interest and at the expense of the community as a whole."

What to do about mounting tax delinquents in their own field will be discussed tonight by 500 representatives of 192 Cook county school boards in the Hotel Sherman.

DR. STANLEY A. DOWIAT.

Dr. Stanley A. Dowiat, Cicero physician who was accused of treating a wounded robber without notifying the police, will be arraigned in the Felony court today on a charge of accessory to robbery after the fact. He was arrested Saturday in his office at 5203 25th street, Cicero, by state's attorney's police.

The accusation was made by Homer Birdsell, a companion of Henry Zinkel, ex-convict who was slain by the police last Tuesday. Birdsell said he drove Zinkel to the physician's office last Feb. 23 when the ex-convict was wounded by police after a robbery. He said Dr. Dowiat removed a bullet from Zinkel's jaw.

Dr. Dowiat, who lives at 4729 12th place, Cicero, admitted treating Zinkel, but said he had known him for several years and did not know he was a robber. He was released in bond of $2,000, approved by Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan.

Zinkel has been identified in 20 robberies of telephone collectors. Birdsell was with him on several holdups.

FREE EX-OWNER OF CAFE; DENIES KILLING WOMAN

Proves Alibi in Mystery Gun Attack on Tavern.

George Gilmore, former owner of a tavern at 942 East 79th street, in which a young mother was fatally shot Saturday while dining there with her husband surrendered yesterday for questioning by police. He was released afterward.

Gilmore said he was with friends at the time of the shooting. He declared he had had no financial interest in the tavern since the first of the year, when he sold out.

Fire Shots Through Windows.

The victim of the shooting was Mrs. Helen Rach, 28 years old, who lived at 7835 Bennett avenue. She and her husband, John L., an insurance broker, were seated at a table in the tavern when gunmen drove past and fired three shots through the windows.

Capt. Patrick Brady, who is conducting the investigation, said he plans to question several tavern owners in the neighborhood in search of clews to the identity of the gunmen. The investigators believe that Frank Carroll, who has operated the place since Jan. 1, was the intended victim of the gunmen.

Will Grill Martin Quirk.

The police believe rival bar owners or persons with a grudge against the present owner were responsible for the shooting. Carroll was formerly employed as a bartender in a tavern operated by Martin Quirk, prohibition beer runner. Quirk is one of those who will be questioned.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rach will be held at 9:30 a. m. today in Our Lady of Peace church, 79th street and Jeffery avenue. She was the daughter-in-law of Dr. Emil A. Rach, a pediatrician living at 7838 Bennett avenue.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., May 21.—[Special.]—Miss Goldie Krueger of Egg Harbor was crowned queen of the Door county cherry festival today. Her selection was based partly on personal charm, but her ability to bake a cherry pie was the deciding factor.

Valeria Harris Is Engaged to Wed Easterner

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO engagement announcements and the news of a marriage last Saturday are of great interest today. At a tea at home in East Cedar street yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris announced the engagement of their daughter, Valeria, to James Huntington Symington, youngest son of the late Judge and Mrs. W. Stuart Symington of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harmon entertained at cocktails at home in East Schiller street on Saturday to announce the engagement of their daughter, Welthyan, to John Crosby Brydon Jr., son of the John C. Brydons of Chicago, formerly of Baltimore.

The large Dixon family gathered at noon on Saturday in the Walton place apartment of Mr. and Mrs. William Warren Dixon to witness the marriage of their elder son, Bruce Fisher Dixon, and Miss Elizabeth Dresser Getchell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Getchell of Wakefield, Mass., and sister of Mrs. Samuel James McLaughlin of Mount Vernon, Ia.

Harrises Try to Conceal Real Purpose of Party.

The Harrises sought to keep secret the real purpose of the party they gave yesterday in their charming apartment, telling their friends that it was a "welcome home" for themselves and their daughter. The family just has returned from an exciting four months' trip to South Africa.

Young Mr. Symington was present to receive congratulations on having won the hand of the pretty and popular only daughter of the house. Present, too, were his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Powers Symington of San Francisco, Cal. They are staying with the Robert J. Dunhams.

Charles Harrison Symington and his wife came from Detroit to felicitate their brother and his fiancée, but the other two brothers, W. Stuart Symington III. of New York and Francis Fife Symington of Baltimore, and their only sister, Mrs. Lawrence M. Bailliere Jr. of Baltimore, will not be coming west until just before the wedding. It is planned for early fall.

Granddaughter of Banker and of Dean at U. of C.

Miss Harris was born in New York during the years her parents were away from Chicago. On her paternal side she is a granddaughter of the late Norman W. Harris, the banker. Her maternal grandfather was Albion W. Small, for many years dean of the graduate schools of the University of Chicago. She has two brothers, Lincoln Small Harris, whose wife is the former Miss Jean Hyman, and Huntington Harris.

Miss Harris attended school in New York and for three years in Paris. When the Harrises returned to Chicago she entered the University School for Giris and later went to Mount Vernon seminary in Washington, where she was graduated from the junior college in 1936. She took special courses at the University of Chicago the next two years, becoming a member of Mortar Board. Her introduction to society took place during the Christmas holidays of 1935. She is a member of the Chicago Junior league.

Mr. Symington prepared at the Kent school and was graduated from Princeton university in 1935, a member of Ivy club. He will take his bride to Virginia to make their home.

Brydon-Harmon Wedding Likely to Be in Fall.

Miss Harmon was introduced to society at a tea several seasons ago when her parents lived in Highland Park. She attended the North Shore Country Day school, Pine Manor, Varsar, and studied abroad.

Mr. Brydon attended the Gilman Country school in Baltimore and was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1932. He is engaged in business in Chicago.

His sister, Louise, became the bride of Charles Howell Coffin Jr. in Feb-

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Cross (left) and her sister, Miss Evelyn Douglas Cross, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peete Cross, whose engagements were announced last week. Miss Ellen and Storm Bull, the pianist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eyvind Bull, will be married in October. Miss Evelyn and Dr. Louis Shattuck Baer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Baer, plan to be married within a year.

Women's Chatter.

James Ward Thorne sat on a bus behind two women who were discussing one thing and another.

"They're certainly getting the Capitol building down in a hurry," commented one. "They have got eight floors down already."

"Did they start at the top?" asked her companion.

Shakespeare Interrupted.

Ian Keith, in a recent performance of "Hamlet" at the Blackstone, took a cue from John Barrymore and Richard Bennett and scolded the audience across the footlights. In the scene between Hamlet and his mother in the speech beginning "Look here, upon this picture, and on this" . . . he was interrupted by a titter and then a guffaw. Keith stopped, looked out across the footlights and challenged, "Want to play it? Come on down here and play it." Then, after a pregnant pause, he turned to the queen mother and continued, "The counterfeit presentment of two brothers. . . ."

The scene drew rousing applause.

Query.

A Mrs. Van Dien Terry from La Porte, Ind., has a little quip you may like. A man asked his wife where she had been and she replied, "To a D. A. R. tea."

"What does the T stand for?" he inquired.

Finnish Visitor.

The man with the bright blue eyes and weather-beaten skin eating luncheon at the Tavern club Saturday with Architect John Root and others was Alvar Aalto, 41 year old Finnish architect and designer of furniture, in town with Mrs. Aalto on the way to the San Francisco fair after seeing the New York fair.

Aalto, who is considered one of the few great figures in the modern movement in architecture after the world war, did the much admired Finnish pavilion at the Paris exposition, and is represented at both expositions in this country. His pavilion at the Paris fair was considered a brilliant architectural conception and an example of excellent psychology. Instead of an imposing façade, the visitor's eye was greeted and refreshed by a beautiful grove. The trees led to a small open court surrounded by outdoor exhibits. Beyond this was a room open to the sky, with vines climbing up, and farther on the main exhibition hall. Aalto used wood, Finland's chief product, freely and the supporting pillars were slender quadruple wooden columns, knotted together with peeled withes.

During his conversation he talked about the ever present bathhouse in Finland and drew a picture of one to illustrate. Mrs. Root has the drawing, signed Alvar Aalto in his neat hand, among her souvenirs.

Good Morning!

Great music, exquisitely played, has this picture—and a few big moments. But, regarded as straight cinema, the piece is a depressing offering with an ingénue somewhat resembling a pretty rodent appearing as the "immortal" Juliette, one love of the musician's life, and an unremarkable cast delineating the other characters. . . . Excepting, of course, Harry Baur as Beethoven—and even this fine actor has only one or two rich scenes.

Principal of these is the episode where Beethoven, after he discovers he has gone deaf, stumbles through a familiar village that's become as strange to him as an evil dream.

He sees a blacksmith hammering on his anvil, but hears no sound. A street fiddler's violin brings no music to his ears. . . . The birds sing—soundlessly.

Beethoven rushes back to the mill that has become his refuge and hiding place. . . . A storm breaks. He HEARS the thunder! Shaking a defiant fist at the turbulent skies, he shouts: "I will match you!" He sits at his organ—and the music of his Sixth symphony, the Pastoral, is born.

Mr. Baur's picture of the composer is a grimy, frowning, suggestively sensual one. . . . He looks no younger at 31 than at 57. Annie Ducaux as Therese, the woman who loves and devotes her life to this genius whose heart belongs to another, was, really, the only person in the cast who gave me any pleasure.

But the score is there—parts of the Sixth, the Third, the Ninth symphonies—and the Miserere!

The finale is unusual and gripping—though too long drawn out. . . . Sets, costumes, and photography are admirable.

Dialog is in French, but English titles make clear the rather awkwardly constructed story.

Reproductions of Art Masterpieces to Be Exhibited at U. of C.

Works of the masters will be displayed in the first public exhibition of the Max Epstein Art Reference library's old master drawings in facsimile, which will be opened Friday at the University of Chicago in Goodspeed hall. The exhibition will be continued through June.

In 1937 Mr. Epstein gave to the university 160,000 mounted reproductions of paintings, drawings, and prints, acquired from the famous art library of Sir Robert Witt in London. The maiden exhibit is to be a selection from these masterpieces.

The Stage

An additional performance of "Who Is Who," the Yiddish play starring Jacob Ben-Ami, will be given at the Studebaker theater tonight. After the play a gala concert will be offered, presenting works by classical Jewish composers.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific

Hollywood, Cal., May 21.—Sam Goldwyn is taking all bets and giving odds of 3 to 1 that President Roosevelt will not essay a third term. What makes the item important is this: Working for Goldwyn is Jimmy Roosevelt! . . . If Zanuck really is casting "Grapes of Wrath," I can tell him a pretty fair actor who'd like to play in it, Spencer Tracy. Reactionary California papers coincidentally have started to blast the migratory workers. . . . Franchot Tone's gallstones have won Chester Morris the part in "Thunder Afloat," which Tone was to have played. . . . It cost Warner's a cool $150,000 to drop Margot Stevenson out of "Dust Be My Destiny" and substitute Priscilla Lane, as all scenes will have to be reshot. . . . Lincoln and Ziegfeld are running neck-and-neck at the major studios, with five Lincoln pictures and three Ziegfeld pictures plotted [the movies can't get away from cycles]. . . . You'll hear Hedy Lamarr sing in "Lady of the Tropics," but the voice will be supplied by a University of Nebraska co-ed, who was talent-scouted at a local drive-in restaurant.

An ex-convict was the bridegroom in a recent Page 1 movie wedding. . . . "Jinx" Falkenberg, who rated $1,000 for that attractive ciggie ad, has had $50,000 in movie offers since it appeared. But's she's much too busy with the Warner publicity chief, Bob Taplinger, to discuss screen offers. . . . Swimmers at the Beverly Hills hotel pool Saturday afternoon got a break when M.-G.-M. cameras moved in to photograph Norma Shearer in swimming sequences for "The Women." Don't tell me that Hollywood has substituted a swimming pool for that bathtub sequence. Virginia Bruce reported set for the chorine rôle in the same picture. . . . Buddy Rogers chucking the band business. . . . Kate Smith and Bob Hope the only radio programs not hurt by the usual summer slump. Both hopped up while the others sliced off.

Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh are burning at those "planted" stories of a feud and blame a disgruntled press agent. . . . No chance of Fred Astaire doing a New York musical . . . Jerome Kern, Ira Gershwin, and the Spewack collabing on the Alex Aarons musical. . . . Zorina set for Dwight Wiman's next. . . . Still another musical for New York being readied by Buddy De Sylva, Cole Porter, and Herb Fields. . . . George White's "Scandals" goes into rehearsal June 22 with Willie and Eugene Howard, Ben Blue, Ella Logan, and tap dancing Ann Miller. White is trying to get Tony Martin and Jane Froman to handle the songs. . . . Joan Abbott becomes Mrs. Benny Gaines June 18. He's the Boston night club Ziegfeld.

Connie Bennett's lawyers are trying to work out a financial agreement with her marquis. . . . Olivia De Havilland and Howard Hughes still at it. . . . The Robert Rossons expect Sir Stork. He wrote "Dust Be My Destiny." . . . Ben Blue with Franz English. . . . Priscilla Lane wearing a ring from Oren Haglund. Joe Hodges and Charlie Grayson an item, this week. . . . Mrs. Al Boasberg is going out with Writer Al Martin. . . . Municipal Justice Joe Rafferty of New York will wed Rowena Sullivan. She's very pretty [and she's my cousin]. . . . Brian Aherne turned down a rôle at Universal calling for four weeks' work at $17,000 per week. . . . Rosemary Lane will wed Tom McAvity as soon as he gets his divorce. . . . Clara Bow in the hospital, nervous exhaustion. . . . The wags call "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" "Strike Up the Bund." . . . Cole Porter's deal at M.-G.-M. is approximately $30,000 for a single picture. . . . He gets about $60,000 in royalties from a successful show. . . . Jack Benny's "Man About Town," which is getting raves at the sneak previews, probably will be world previewed at his home town, Waukegan, Ill., in July.

Loretta Young and Jimmy Stewart are developing into a four-alarm blaze. . . . Carole Landis, the shapely, and Kenny Morgan have a sense of Yuma. . . . Is Virginia Simms, vocalist in his band, actually Mrs. Kay Kyser? . . . Sir Stork has charted landings at the Don Ameches', the Carroll [N. B. C.] Carrolls', and the Ernie [RKO] Paganos'. . . . Vinton Freedley hasn't yet closed a deal with Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler for that Broadway play. . . . Rodgers and Hart will write the music for Mae West's musical comedy, with George Abbott producing. . . . Radio Daily yanked out a column blast on Darryl Zanuck from the current edition.

Pasadena, where Maj. Gen. Moseley rushed, is a strong anti-Semite colony. Theater there where "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" is playing received hundreds of mailed and telephoned threats. . . . Main rollers of Felix Ferry's enormously successful "Monte Carlo" in New York are Jean of the Colony; Gilbert Miller and "Sparky" Parslow, heir to a shipbuilding fortune. Young Parslow also has a piece of Cole Porter's "Leave It to Me," so he's doing very handsomely for himself. At the moment, he's in Hollywood. . . . Eddie Albert and Doris Carson an item. . . . George Brent tells pals that his romance with Bette Davis IS FAR from a publicity romance. . . . Biggest audience laugh in "Family Affair" comes when John Garfield asks Claude Rains where the family is. "They won't be home until 4 a. m.," cracks Rains; "they went to see a double feature."

Dance Dresses in White Pique Go Streamline

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Not all the new summer dinner and dance dresses come with frills, ruffles, beading and ribbon. Sleek, streamlined beauties, just unpacked, are dramatic contrasts, especially in spanking white piqué.

Most of the piqués are cut in a princess silhouette, with plenty of flare from the kneeline to the floor. Some have dashingly wide circular skirts to accent a wasp waistline and a decidedly skimpy bodice top. Trim details also are different. One knockout has a row of flashing, brilliant buttons down the front, with a fold of the piqué over the bodice. Another has a box plaited flounce six inches deep around the lower edge of the skirt. This flounce is of embroidered piqué with a design in red. A bolero is of the same embroidered stuff.

A third piqué has fetching trim of Irish lace around the skirt hem and bodice. Puritan plain piqués are stunning with matching jackets and one in-between-model is trimmed with cut out designs in the material, these at the top of the bodice and around the edge of the very short bolero.

Cool white chiffon jerseys come next. New affairs are made with superlative simplicity—shirrings at the waistline, folds over the shoulder lines and either a decorative gold mesh belt or a tailored narrow band of the jersey.

Dull crêpes in snow white come with sunburst plaited skirts or simple circle skirts topped with unusually well designed bodices. A wide shaped belt of many small bands of crêpe fagoted together is the decorative detail on one extremely good looking find with a short bolero jacket. A second find has shallow scallops around the top of the dress and around the jacket, and a third winner has an entire lattice work bodice, with a leaf green camisole top peeking through.

The River Bend Feud

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1939: By William MacLeod Raine.)

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape to Texas. Jeff meets Joan Raleigh, lost in the vastness of her feudal estate, and assists her home. He meets her brothers, Bill and Phil, and Phil's wife, Mary Lou. When they learn Jeff went to college with their cousin, Raeburn, he is invited to be their guest. An old feud against the Raleighs is being renewed under the leadership of Butler Lane, suspected of poisoning their aunt, his wife, and forging her will. Banderas, routed from Mexico, has joined Lane. Jeff offers to try to make peace with the better element, and with Jim Williams, starts for the ranch of Carl Nielsen. They are pursued and fired on by Banderas and his men, but manage to reach the Nielsen ranch. Banderas and his men appear. Jeff disarms the bandit and his men. Nielsen is shocked by the outlaws. The feud has prevented a romance between beautiful Olga Nielsen and Bill Raleigh. Next morning Nielsen leaves with Jeff for a conference with Phil Raleigh. Joan and Phil are missing—kidnaped in their own plane and made the prisoners of Banderas. Jeff, Jim Williams and Raeburn Raleigh steal secretly into Trail End to shadow Lane Butler. They lie in wait for him in a car near where they suspect the captives are being held.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

A GANGSTER SLAIN.

Jeff lifted a warning hand. "Listen."

They could hear the sound of an approaching auto. The cigarets and the pipe were at once extinguished. Jeff slipped from the car and moved toward the road, carefully keeping in the shadow of the brush. He counted four men in the car as it passed in the moonlight.

Raeburn whispered in his ear. "Butler Lane just back of the driver. Two of his gunmen with him. The near one on the front seat is Rannigan's rider, Sowder. They're taking the cut-off."

"This ties Rannigan up with the kidnaping," Jeff reflected aloud. "His man is guiding Lane to the place where they're holding the prisoners."

"Y'betcha!" Old Jim's voice rose to a high falsetto with excitement. "Thing for us to do is to trail them."

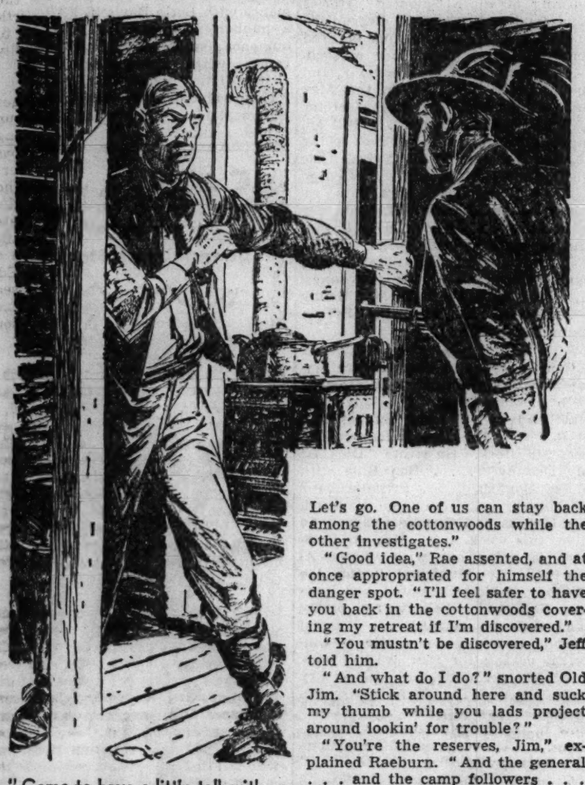
"Yes," agreed Jeff. "But not near enough for them to hear us coming, for if they do we won't find out a thing."

The three men jolted down the rutty lane in the car. When they came to a hillock from which they could look down to the cottonwoods among which Rannigan's house nestled they caught sight for a moment of the tail lights of the automobile in front of them. Even while they looked the switch was cut off.

"You don't suppose they could be holding our folks at Rannigan's temporarily until Lane has had a talk with the boss," Williams said.

"I'm going to find out," Rae announced. "Wait for me here."

Jeff was out of the car first. "You took the words out of my mouth.



"Come to have a little talk with you Rannigan. No, don't move."

Let's go. One of us can stay back among the cottonwoods while the other investigates."

"Good idea," Rae assented, and at once appropriated for himself the danger spot. "I'll feel safer to have you back in the cottonwoods covering my retreat if I'm discovered."

"You mustn't be discovered," Jeff told him.

"And what do I do?" snorted Old Jim. "Stick around here and suck my thumb while you lads project around lookin' for trouble?"

"You're the reserves, Jim," explained Raeburn. "And the general . . . and the camp followers . . . and the war correspondents. You keep our line of communications open."

"Hmp! I'm to be the kid at the football game who runs out with the water bucket. And I was scouting before you sprouts were born."

"It's important to stay with the car and see nobody cuts us off from a getaway," Jeff said.

"Sure, but I don't have to be the guy," exploded the cowboy.

His protests got him nowhere. He was still muttering them when the younger men vanished into the shadows of the cottonwoods.

Guided by the ranch lights, they moved forward cautiously. Vaguely they made out obscure figures in front of the porch. As they drew closer these resolved themselves into a bunch of horses.

Out of the house came a jet of men. Four of them walked to the saddled mounts. The fifth leaned against a porch pillar. By the light coming through the open door the two men in the cottonwoods recognized him as Rannigan. Apparently in answer to some complaint previously made, the ranchman offered assurance.

"It's no distance a-tall, Mr. Lane. Not more'n five-six miles."

Lane said sourly, "I didn't tell you to take them into darkest Africa before I made contact."

He turned his horse and followed the man who was leading the way. The sound of the hoofs died down in the distance.

Raeburn turned to his friend, eyes shining with excitement. "They're headed for the rendezvous now," he said. "Somewhere within half a mile of here they'll strike into the brush. If we could follow them——"

"We can't, in a car. If there had been a passable road they would have taken their own."

"And on foot we'd never reach in time the trail into which they cut. They'll be gone into the jungle, and we won't know where."

The man on the porch filled a pipe and lit it. Evidently he was in no hurry to get back into the house.

A voice back of Jeff murmured a suggestion. "Rannigan knows that trail."

Hunter turned to see old Jim grinning at him.

"Prontito," Williams snapped. "Right damn now."

"Not quite that soon," Jeff differed. "If we move up on him now he'll cut into the house and bolt the doors on us. Let me do this."

He did not wait to argue the point but crept away through the trees.

"Let him go," Raeburn said. "He means to come up on Rannigan from behind the house, I reckon. We'll wait and see."

The sudden angry barking of a dog filled the night. The two men in the cottonwoods caught sight of their friend. Jeff had backed round the end of the house, his face to the snarling animal. Hunter said, "Call off your hound, Rannigan, or I'll have to pump lead into him."

"Don't you dass shoot that dog," roared its owner, and on the heel of his first reaction flung out a startled question. "Who are you anyhow, fellow, and what you doing here?"

Jeff reached the porch in a leap and strode across its floor to the ranchman. "Come to have a little talk with you, Rannigan. No, don't move. Stay right where you are. And tell that dog to let me alone."

The startled eyes of Rannigan traveled from the stern face of this stranger to the revolver in his hand.

"Now don't . . . don't be hasty," he said urgently. "I'm not aimin' to have any trouble with you-all."

"The dog," Hunter reminded him.

"Down, Tige, down. Ain't you got no sense? Leave the gen-elman alone. Don't you see he's a . . . a friend . . . of mine?"

Jeff was aware that his two companions were running toward the house from the cottonwoods. More urgently his mind was on another man emerging from the gloom and moving rapidly in his direction.

"What the hell's doing here?" a hard flat voice demanded.

The man stopped in his stride. That something was wrong he knew, but he could not yet tell what. He half turned, shouting a harsh order to Raleigh and Williams to stop where they were. The shift in his position brought his face into the slant of light from the open door. He was the man who had flung Jeff down from Lane's car and kicked his ribs earlier in the evening. In his hand was an automatic.

"Drop that gun," Jeff warned. "We're three to one. I have you covered."

The cold eyes of the gangster shifted back to Jeff. He waited no longer. From his automatic came an angry bark. A bullet ploughed into the porch post to the left of Hunter. Another whipped through the rim of the engineer's hat.

Jeff fired. The force of the shock whirled the attacker part way round. He clutched at his heart, staggered back a step or two, and slumped to the ground. Feebly he tried to turn but gave it up. His body collapsed into a huddled heap.

For a moment nobody moved or spoke. Then Rannigan's terror brought him to urgent life.

Cucumbers make good eating cooked as well as raw, provided they're not overcooked. They may be prepared in any of the ways in which their cousins, the Italian or zucchini squashes, are prepared, that is, by stewing, sautéing, and stuffing and baking.

Attractive cups to hold hot creamed foods may be made from cucumbers. Cut the "cukes" into two inch sections, without peeling them. Cook until barely tender in boiling, salted water. Drain, scoop out centers to make cups, and fill with creamed or buttered peas or carrots, creamed chicken, mushrooms, or other food. If desired, the filled cucumber cups may be brushed with butter, sprinkled with buttered crumbs, and browned under a broiling unit or in a fairly hot oven.

Sautéed Cucumbers.

[Serves four.]

2 cucumbers
Butter, flour, salt, pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley or cut chives

Pare the quarter cucumbers. Dip in seasoned flour and cook in butter until tender, turning to brown all sides. When tender, add parsley or chives and serve.

It isn't necessary to flour the cucumber sections or to add parsley unless you like. They may be cooked gently in butter with only salt and pepper as seasonings.

STUFFED CUCUMBERS.

Cut cucumbers lengthwise in halves. do not peel, but scoop out the seeds. Fill with creamed chopped left over meat, sprinkle with buttered crumbs, and place in a baking pan with a small amount of water in the bottom. Bake at 375 degrees until tender. The baking time may be shortened by parboiling the cucumber halves in salted water for five minutes.

Cucumbers may be baked with other stuffings, or with only buttered and seasoned crumbs to fill their centers.

Stewed Cucumbers.

[Six servings.]

3 medium cucumbers, quartered lengthwise
6 slices toast
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1½ tablespoons lemon juice

Peel cucumbers and cut in quarters lengthwise. Place in shallow pan with ½ cup boiling water, and cook until just tender. Remove from water and place on slices of hot buttered toast. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, and keep hot while making sauce. Blend butter and flour with salt, and add the water in which the cucumbers were cooked. Cook until smooth and thick, adding a little more hot water if the sauce seems thicker than it needs to be. Pour the sauce over the cucumbers and serve at once.

Stewed cucumbers may be served in white sauce, cheese sauce, or tomato sauce.

There are two factors in the success of any cooked cucumber dish. First, the vegetable must not be overcooked or it will lose all character. Second, it should be seasoned "to taste."

ruary. The Brydon-Harmon wedding probably will not take place until fall.

Dixon-Getchell Wedding Attended Only by Families.

Only the families were present at the marriage of Miss Getchell to young Mr. Dixon, but when Mr. and Mrs. Dixon's brothers and sisters and their children are meant by "only the family" the group is a sizable one. The Rev. John Thompson of the First Methodist church read the service, and a luncheon followed.

Mr. Dixon attended the Chicago Latin school and Lawrenceville. He and his bride met at Cornell college, in Mount Vernon, where her brother-in-law, Prof. McLaughlin, is a member of the faculty. In spite of their youth young Mr. Dixon and the former Miss Getchell both left college, and he went to work.

Their marriage was to have taken place next fall, but the prospect of a trip east for the wedding of one of the bride's best friends and a visit to her other sister, Mrs. Howard C. Waddell, and Mr. Waddell, in Keene, N. H., decided them to advance the date. They left by motor Saturday and will return in a few weeks to make their home in Chicago.

Mr. Dixon's brother, Warren F. Dixon, was not present at the ceremony, for he could not leave his studies at Princeton.

The Dixon family is full of weddings this spring. Miss Ethel Dixon and Alexander Seymour Fletcher and George W. Dixon Jr. and Miss Margaret Walker of Racine, Wis., will be married next month.

Elizabeth Batchelder to Wed R. G. Guimaraes.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Batchelder of Lake Forest have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Catherine, to Richmond G. Guimaraes of Highland Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Guimaraes of Oxford, O. Miss Batchelder, a granddaughter of Mrs. William A. Tilden and the late Mr. Tilden, attended Ferry Hall. Mr. Guimaraes was graduated from Miami university, Oxford, O., and is engaged in business in Chicago. The wedding will take place next fall.

Woolsey McA. Pollocks Celebrate Anniversary.

Several surprises were in store for the friends Mr. and Mrs. Woolsey McAlpine Pollock invited to a buffet supper in their Lake Forest home Saturday night to celebrate their fifteenth wedding anniversary. Perhaps the nicest one was to see the "bride and bridegroom" in their wedding clothes, for at the time of the marriage of Miss Frances Taft to Mr. Pollock in 1924 fewer than twenty witnesses were present. The bridal gown of white satin made with a square neckline and chiffon sleeves still fits Mrs. Pollock.

Mrs. Philip F. W. Peck, who wore gray-blue chiffon and a picture hat of brown net to be her sister's only attendant, wore her wedding dress when she and Mr. Peck celebrated their twentieth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges [Sarah Brewster], who arrived from Florida on Friday, are staying in Lake Forest with Mrs. Hodges' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, where they will celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary today.

Former Kean Hughes Is Mother of a Daughter.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. Carleton Williams of Grosse Pointe, Mich., Saturday, their friends in Chicago learned yesterday. Mrs. Williams is the former Miss Kean Hughes, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Hughes of Barrington. The baby has been named Penelope.

Wives of Cornell alumni will be widows tonight, for about 200 of the alumni are expected at a dinner and meeting at the Midday club at which a $14,000,000 building program for the engineering colleges will be discussed. Col. Robert Isham Randolph will be toastmaster.

Three speakers are coming from the university: H. Wallace Peters, the new provost; Bancroft Gherardi, a trustee, and Dean S. C. Hollister of the college of engineering. The Chicago committee in charge of the dinner is headed by B. Botsford Young.

The Wilmette center of the Infant Welfare society will hold its annual spring luncheon at 1 o'clock today at the Sunset Ridge Country club.

The Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association is giving a tea from 3 to 5 o'clock today at the Arts club. The party will be for new and old members.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Patience is just as necessary a virtue at the bridge table as it is in more prosaic walks of life. The defender was in a great hurry to cash a sure trick against a slam contract in the following hand and, as a result, let the setting trick escape him.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 no trump	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

This bidding was nothing to elicit pæans of praise. I have no great fault to find with North's initial take-out to the unbiddable club suit, inasmuch as he had great side suit compensation and no perfect bid was available. North could have bid two no trump, but the blank A-K of diamonds suggested that the combined hands probably would play better in a suit contract. It was South's four no trump bid that gave the first impetus toward the slam that never should have been reached. South had a fair hand, but his spade suit was far too weak, after only a secondary raise from partner, to suggest slam visions. North cannot be greatly blamed for taking South's six club bid to six spades. His reason for doing so, as a matter of fact, is my reason for usually looking with disfavor on responses based on unbiddable suits. No matter how many raises responder receives he always is afraid to play the final contract in that suit.

West decided that there was a fine chance that his partner could ruff an opening club lead, hence led his fourth highest. Declarer captured East's blank king and studied the dummy without enthusiasm. At least one trump trick would have to be lost and, unless a miracle happened in clubs and the jack were to drop on the next lead, there also would be a natural club loser. After deep cogitation declarer thought he saw some light. He would need the coöperation of the defenders, but perhaps they would be kind enough to extend it. At the second trick declarer led his diamond to dummy and cashed the second diamond trick, discarding a low heart. He then played the ace, king, and another heart, ruffing the third round.

So far, so good. The hearts had broken 3-3. The next move was to cash the spade king and then cross to dummy's ace. The 3-2 break of the spades was another cause for satisfaction, but the crucial point had not yet arrived. It did, however, on the next play. Dummy's established fourth heart was led and declarer discarded a club. West swooped down upon this trick with his high trump, as though that card would vanish into thin air if it were not taken on the spot. Having done so, however, West gazed helplessly at his hand for a safe exit. Too late, it occurred to him that a diamond return would be ruffed in dummy while declarer discarded another club, obviously his last losing club. But West's actual choice of the club eight return was no better. Dummy's ten was put up with a silent prayer by declarer and, when it held, the contract was "in the bag."

It may be superfluous to point out just how bad West's play was. All he had to do was refuse to ruff the fourth round of hearts and declarer would have been helpless. Of course West would have to discard a club, not a diamond, but that would not take much vision after declarer's club discard. Now, if declarer tried to drop the jack of clubs, he would come to grief, and if he tried the impossible throw-in play by leading a spade to put West on lead, West would have an easy and safe exit in his third diamond.

Princess Dress for Summer

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The flattering princess dress has returned for the summer season, and it has adopted a good many new tricks that give it added charm. The pattern today incorporates a few of these. Although this frock may be worn for either social or household occasions, it is anything but a humdrum model. Its shoulderline is styled in epaulet effect, and is trimmed with the same edging that finishes the puffed sleeves and the large patch pockets. Buttons, singly or in groups, are employed down the entire front of the model.

The sketch at the lower right shows the dress without pockets and created in a dark shade with ruffling for accent and trim. Illustrated at the top is a version of the pattern that has special interest. It is a long overblouse which may be either part of a dress twosome or an extra short coat to wear with your summer things. If you make it for the latter purpose, choose a rather heavy silk. For the other two versions of the pattern select cottons, linens, or silks.

Style No. 2784 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, with 2¾ yards of braid trimming.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

For the greater honor and glory of your summer face one of the beauty houses, after great labor, has brought forth three elegant new lip stick shades, the most beautiful rosy tints you ever saw.

One, called pink rose, is very lovely. It's a little deeper in tone than the other two and is bound to be a smash hit on the faces of those lucky girls who're very fair and like to accent their fairness with a luscious lip stick color. It's not deep, exactly, but it has a rosy warmth that makes it rather dramatic.

Camellia is another shade. This is a brilliant pink, almost electric in tone—and far prettier than this description makes it sound. We saw it on a sun tanned lady not so long ago and were filled with envy. This is one of those rare colors that is becoming to blonde and brunette alike.

The third shade, however, is our pet. It's a very soft pink, rich but not too deep, and one of the prettiest shades we've ever seen. This is a lulu for the fair haired and the pale brunette, and is immensely flattering to the woman with white hair.

In texture these are excellent. They're just right for summer, because they won't get "runny" on the lips, but they're creamy enough to give your lips a beautiful satiny coat.

Each stick, by the way, comes in a little tester box, with three shallow compartments filled with rouge in the three shades. You can "try them on" if the experimental urge hits you. Or you can change your make-up on occasion. Each full stick is sealed in cellophane. You can be certain that it comes to you untouched.

A Masterpiece in Syncopation Boils the Blood

BY CECIL SMITH.

With dynamic Izler Solomon conducting, the Illinois Symphony orchestra played one of the most exciting and rewarding concerts of its entire season yesterday afternoon in the Great Northern theater. Three compositions made up the program: Beethoven's First symphony, Aaron Copland's "El Salón México" [played for the first time in Chicago], and Karol Szymanowski's Symphonie Concertante for piano and orchestra. Wanda Paul was piano soloist in the last named work, which she had introduced to the city last year.

The death of Szymanowski in 1937 at the age of 54 was an immense loss, whose magnitude seems greater with each additional hearing of his music. For while this preëminent modern Polish composer had perhaps an inordinate love for a big orchestra and crashing sonorities, his musical gifts were equaled by few composers of his generation.

The Symphonie Concertante is brilliant and splendid in the rhythmic dissonance of its first and last movements, and poetic without losing firmness of texture in the slow movement. Miss Paul gave a breathtaking performance, overriding the awesome difficulties with wonderful abandon, and discovering the lyric essence of the quieter portions. Write Miss Paul's name in the top bracket of young pianists.

"El Salón México," deriving its folk themes from the milieu of a Mexican dance hall, is the year's most intoxicating essay in sophisticated syncopation. The score is a masterpiece of color and craft. Quite the best Aaron Copland music we have heard, it sets the blood to boiling without ever sacrificing a serious musical intention in the process. The orchestra gave a virtuoso performance.

A good sized audience applauded vociferously both the modern works and the Beethoven symphony, played with excellent balance and graceful phrasing.

In a program of small chamber works the Collegium Musicum of the University of Chicago, Siegmund Levarie, director, brought old and new works to light last night. Paul Hindemith's new sonata for bassoon and piano was heard for the first time in America. A modern sonata for recorder [wooden flute] and piano by Hugo Kauder was played for the first time anywhere. The older pieces were by Johann Sebastian Bach and Antonio Caldara [1670-1736].

Season's Best End Beaux Arts Concert Series

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Because some one decided that Dorothy Cunningham, Robert Rich, and Paul Sifler are the best of the people who have appeared in the 1938-'39 Beaux Arts series at the Medinah club, they were presented all over again yesterday in the closing concert of the season.

Miss Cunningham, a teen age soprano of extraordinary talent, sang "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen" and the Berceuse from "Jocelyn" in a verdant, youthful voice and with enough nuance to indicate that she is beginning to make her music a personalized, communicative sort of thing. Most of the program, alas, was given over to pieces of fantastic difficulty, and the dewy little voice became hard and cold in its efforts to cope with "Lucia di Lammermoor's" mad scene and Philine's aria from "Mignon."

A bronzelike strength and richness distinguishes the baritone voice of Mr. Rich, who yesterday sang a miscellany of concert and radio songs and proved in Handel's "Dank Sie Dir, Herr" that he cannot only grasp profound music but can make his listeners grasp it, too. On the debit side of the Rich ledger is a lack of interest in most of the dynamic range. He will vary a forte with a fortissimo, and a fortissimo with a forte.

Paul Sifler, pianist, played his own sonata, a work in which Felix Mendelssohn and Duke Ellington find common ground. There is a certain romantic suavity that suggests the former, a gleeful, down to earth rhythmic verve vaguely similar to the latter. The sonata was skilfully and persuasively performed.

Mathilde Ernestine, who manages the Beaux Arts series, turned up again as impresaria in the evening when she presented two gifted boys in a Curtiss hall recital. Robert Basso, a 14 year old violinist who looks like a miniature Milstein, played Kreisler, Bach, and Sarasate with excellent tone, fine rhythmic sense, great technical fluency, and a general air of quiet command. Edwin Gordon, a tiny child of 8, tossed off both serious and humorous piano pieces with an aplomb that a person thrice his age might envy.

In a Cradle society benefit at the Civic Opera house yesterday José Alvarez and Mira Soriano presented a program of sumptuously costumed Spanish dances that caught the langor, the fire, and even the humor of the Iberian peninsula. Raymond Ericson provided compellingly rhythmic accompaniments and offered in addition some solo pieces which revealed an ear for subtle color differentiation and a feeling for tasteful rubato.

The Chicago concert chorus, twenty-three women and five men under Lucy Atkinson's direction, offered its fourth annual concert in Kimball hall last night. This is a fresh voiced outfit with lots of vitality and musical grace. The program was drawn from an astonishing variety of sources and was performed with an enthusiasm that made friends of the audience when the evening had hardly begun.

Anti-Perspirant Not Dangerous, Says Authority

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Is it dangerous to stop perspiration under the arms with the sort of product that stops it entirely?" a correspondent asks and adds, in explanation, that her mother objects to her "trifling with nature."

We assume that our correspondent refers to the aluminum chloride type of anti-perspirant; the water solution of aluminum chloride, that is. This is the most popular type recommended to stop perspiration quickly.

We have the word of a reputable authority on the subject that there is no support to the theory that there is danger in stopping underarm perspiration. There is so much other surface area, with some two million sweat glands per person to take care of normal perspiration.

The water solution of aluminum chloride has been used for a long time to stop perspiration in this area. Disadvantages might result from improper application. It may irritate the skin and also weaken fabrics. But, applied at night, contact with fabric may be avoided. And the solution should not be applied to sensitive skins or skins just shaved or depilated. Or, it may be diluted by dousing water on the section before applying. We think fabric is protected when the area is sponged off with cool water and patted dry.

But there are anti-perspirants in cream form that can be used often and are found satisfactory by many women. These creams contain acidic neutralizers which aid to counteract the odors of the fatty acids. And there are especially prepared powders in which perborates and bicarbonates are found.

The Housewife

For housecleaning time there's an oil soap on the market that is a 100 per cent vegetable product. It does not require any dissolving, as do many oil soaps. You just apply it as it is and then wipe dry. You don't have to do any rinsing.

The makers guarantee that there is no acid or abrasive in this vegetable oil soap. It is available in three sizes and is not costly.

May 22, 1939.

Make this a day of accomplishment. Keep going until you have reduced the list of "musts" on your schedule. If you try to make this a day of leisure you'll be out of step. The figure 22 has a special significance in numerology, and the ancients were careful what they planned for a 22 day, as it has a special occult significance. It is interesting to note that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who was intensely interested in the occult, was born on May 22.

PICK FOUR BEST OF 73,000 IN TRIBUNE GOLF SCHOOL

PRIZES AWARDED TO 28 OTHERS AT FINAL SESSION

Attendance for 7 Years Is 198,000.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Edwin Wiech, May Zecker, Charles Hodgin, and Patsy Denney were named the smartest pupils yesterday in the finals of the seventh annual free Tribune Golf school, largest plan of group teaching in the history of the game, in Marquette park.

The weather man, who ordinarily provides the school with its main stymies—rain and cold—had been unusually kind during the four regular classes on the four courses of the Chicago park district, but yesterday he must have decided to keep his record clean. After deluding the Illinois members of the Professional Golfers' association into thinking that they might be able to conclude the school outdoors, he sent along a downpour which might have forced a postponement if the pros had not been able to transfer the graduating exercises from the course to the roomy Marquette park fieldhouse.

Waldron Conducts Show.

While Law Waldron of Mohawk, who conducted the classes in Columbus park, acted as master of ceremonies from the fieldhouse stage, his brother professionals took the thirty-two finalists out onto the floor in details of eight, while the prize pupils displayed their swings. The eight boys were examined first, then the girls, men and women, in that order.

The final examining board included Packy Walsh, professional and manager of Marquette park; his brother, Tom of Westgate Valley, national P. G. A. secretary and one of the originators of the school; Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley, Matt Matteson of Ridge, Jackson park's head teacher and secretary of the Illinois P. G. A., and Art Race of Lincolnshire.

Winners Get Prizes.

Each of the winners in the four divisions—men's, women's, boys' and girls'—was awarded a bag and a set of clubs by THE TRIBUNE. The other twenty-eight finalists each received one dozen golf balls.

The 1939 school was the most successful in the seven year career of the school. A total of 73,000 free lessons was given by members of the Illinois section of the P. G. A. on the four park courses during the two weeks' term. This raised the aggregate for seven years to 198,000.

In the case of all four winners perseverance was rewarded, since each had been up before in an attempt to take home a set of clubs. Leading all these in persistence was Wiech, victor in the men's division. He has taken part in five of the seven schools since their inception in 1933, having been out of town the other two years. He is 26 years old and a chemist. His wife, Marcia, joined him in qualifying for the 1939 finals from Columbus park. Ed received his first golfing instruction in the 1933 school. He lives at 23 North Menard avenue.

Teacher Is a Star.

Young Hodgin, who also reached the finals last year, was Columbus park's second winner. He will be 18 in December and is a senior at Austin High school, where he is a member of the varsity swimming team. He became interested in golf through the Tribune school. Chuck resides at 5744 West Erie street.

Jackson park produced the two winners in the women's and girls' divisions. Miss Zecker, a teacher in the Parkman school, was making her third appearance in the school, having reached the finals last year. She lives at 818 West 70th street. Patsy Denney, the girls' champion, resides at 6926 Euclid avenue. Seventeen years old, she is a senior at St. Xavier's academy. She began playing golf when she was 10 years old, while the family was vacationing in Macon, Ga., but never went at it in earnest until joining the Jackson park classes of the Tribune school last year, when she qualified for the finals.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THERE have been so many inquiries of late about tickets, locations, and such for the All-Star football game between the New York Giants and the College All-Americans that this may be as good a time as any to have a chat about the situation. . . . The game will not be played until the night of Aug. 30, but this department already has received hundreds of ticket applications from fans who want seats in preferred sections. . . . The scale of prices in recent years has been $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10. . . . There have been approximately 33,000 seats at the top price, the section extending from midfield to 20 yards beyond the goal lines. . . . This year there will be a premium on seats between the 10 yard lines. . . . The price has been raised to $4.40. . . . There are three reasons for the change. . . . First, the management was able to take care of less than half the fans who demanded seats between the goal lines. . . . Second, this is a charity promotion and it is the desire of this department to increase, without too great a strain on the purse of the spectator who insists on choice locations, the revenue we are able to turn over to the United Charities, Catholic Charities, and Jewish Charities of Chicago. . . . Third, we are now able to guarantee positions. . . . A fan who this summer orders a $4.40 seat knows he cannot be farther away from midfield than the 10 yard line. . . . Under the old arrangement he might be 20 yards beyond the goal line. . . .

None of the other price sections will be altered in any way. . . . Seats between the 10 yard lines and 20 yards beyond the goal will remain $3.30. . . . The $2.20 and $1.10 will be in the same locations as in other years. . . . There are indications that this will be the greatest sports promotion of all time. . . . Interest has been mounting throughout the country since the event was inaugurated in 1934. . . . More newspapers and radio stations will be associated with THE TRIBUNE in conducting the players' and coaches' polls than ever before. . . . More than 250 already have announced plans to join the coast to coast voting. . . . They represent forty-six states and the District of Columbia. . . . Maine and Delaware are the only states not yet enlisted. . . . Interest is not limited to spectators. . . . We daily receive inquiries from coaches, athletic directors, and other college officials about the procedure for landing players on the All-Star squad. . . . Not infrequently comes a letter from a freshman or sophomore player at a great university, reminding us that he will be a starter in the 1941 or 1942 game. . . . Among the fellows who have set that goal for themselves is Tom Harmon of Michigan, who for the last two years has been asking us to save him a place in 1941. . . . And need we say that if he maintains as a junior and senior the brilliant record he established as a sophomore he will be a cinch?

Thoughts.

Today we are where our thoughts have aimed,
Either better or worse are we.
Tomorrow we are where today's thoughts lead,
How careful we ought to be!
You are as great as your dearest thought,
As true as your fond desire,
All thoughts, all works, all aims the best,
None higher than you aspire.
Think well your thoughts and guard them all,
Grow and expand each day,
The product you sow, as you go along,
Makes happy or sad your way.

No, Come to Think About It.

Comes now Dr. Serge Veronoff with the observation: "The average life of human beings will be extended to nearly 150 years if grafting of glands becomes a general practice." Maybe so, but what with income tax, jitterbugs, Sunday drivers, and double features have you met anybody lately who wants to live 150 years?

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

A SPORTSMAN PASSES.

The death of Joe Carr has taken from American sport one of its distinguished pioneers and constructive forces. More than any other individual he was responsible for the rapid development of professional football. He was firm in his ruling, but always impartial.

One of his last official acts was to sign in behalf of the National football league a five year contract with the Chicago Tribune Charities which guarantees the preëminence of the Chicago All-Star game.

After the document had been signed in Mr. Carr's suite at a loop hotel this department remarked, "I hope, Joe, we shall both be here when the contract expires." That was four weeks ago last Saturday.

Worst Joke I Ever Heard.

When the king arrives in the United States he may hear some of the boys greeting him with "Hi-King!" If he were possessed of American wit he might reply, "No, riding, my boy, riding." —Aitchee S.

DR. LYONS CURES SOX ILLS; BEATS SENATORS, 3 TO 2

Teddy Yields Seven Hits in Ten Innings.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Ted Lyons, that 38 year old youngster, unpacked his pitching wares today and Washington's Senators immediately lost their sight. The old young boy who has been campaigning in the big show for seventeen seasons stopped his foes on seven hits, fanned the same number and hung on grimly until his White Sox mates could relieve his burden by providing the winning run. They finally presented it to him in the tenth inning, and at the same time fashioned his third triumph of the season. The score was 3 to 2.

The Sox, who are not in a run producing mood these days, again had a terrible time with one Joe Krakauskas, the left hander whom they recently trimmed, 2 to 1. There were plenty of hits off him—one or more in all except two of the ten innings—and he gave up seven passes. His associates gave him added trouble with various bits of dipsydoo fielding, but with opportunity beckoning them from start to finish, the Sox ruined many of the chances by running wild on the bases.

Kreevich Snaps Out of It.

It was a good thing for Lyons, whose job was doubly tough because he exhausted himself hitting and running the bases, that Mike Kreevich eluded the jinx that has been gripping his bat. Lyons took care of the first run, but after he had dropped back into a tie, Kreevich shoved him back into the lead with a two bagger in the sixth. The Senators tied it up again in the same inning, but thereafter the veteran was better than before, and when he finally got he needed run it was Kreevich who furnished the power.

The decisive tenth opened with a pass to Luke Appling, and the 13,000 spectators began their customary howling. They knew that Krakauskas' generosity frequently is fatal. Rip Radcliff tried to hunt, fouled off two and then had to swing. He banged a wicked liner to center, but Case flagged it. Kreevich was next with a healthy single to the same section, but an overanxious Case in center field jugged the ball. So Appling, instead of stopping at third, where the hit sent him, dashed on to the plate.

The Sox Get One.

Krakauskas started the second impressively enough by fanning Kree-

112 Will Seek Chicago Places in Open Today

A field of 112 hopeful golfers—seventy-six professionals and thirty-six amateurs—will do battle today over the No. 1 and No. 3 courses of the Medinah Country club for the twelve places alloted to the Chicago district for the national open tournament in Philadelphia on June 8, 9 and 10.

The regiment of swingers which has enlisted in this local test for the big show of American golf includes several names capable not only of qualifying today but also of doing well when the lads start their pursuit of Champion Ralph Guldahl next month at the Philadelphia Country club.

36 Holes of Medal Play.

Today's argument will be over thirty-six holes of medal play, eighteen on the No. 1 yard and eighteen on the championship No. 3 layout. Both of these courses will be the scene also of the 40th western open tournament on July 21, 22 and 23.

The first twosome away on No. 1 at 9 o'clock this morning will consist of Frank Garrity of Western Springs and Harry Adams of the home club. At the same time, Johnny Gibson of Ridgemoor and Floyd Pawlik of Oak Park will open the firing on No. 3. Thereafter the field will go out in threesomes.

In addition to the twelve regular berths, Chicago is assured of a representation of eighteen players through exemptions from the sectional rounds granted to six players who finished within the first thirty in the 1938 open in Denver. This sextet includes Runnerup Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course; John Revolta of Evanston; Jimmy Foulis of Ruth Lake; Horton Smith of Oak Park; Tommy Armour of Medinah, and Al Huske of De Kalb.

Laffoon in Field Today.

Among the local stars who will attempt to qualify today are Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Oak Park, Harry Adams of Medinah, Johnny Bulla of Chicago, Jim Noonan of Burnham Woods, Sam Bernardi of Old Elm, Charley Penna of Medinah, and Herb Johnson of Butterfield.

Those who have played Medinah tomorrow will find two changes on the No. 3 layout—elevated greens at the second and 17th holes, but it is No. 9 which will surprise them. The eighth hole has become a dogleg through the planting of a number of trees and shrubs just to the left of the center of the fairway, making the stream on the right a parallel water hazard for much of the route. It will measure about 410 yards for championship play. Having argued with this, the player will come to the

Dizzy Wants to Take Regular Turn on Mound

"From now on I won't back in to get my pay check the first and fifteenth of the month," said Dizzy Dean as he accepted the flood of congratulations after his big comeback effort yesterday in which he shut out the Boston Bees, 4 to 0, in his season debut as a starting pitcher.

"I felt fine all the way, and want to take my regular turn," Diz continued. "When I get a start on a hot day I can't figure how anybody is going to get on base. It was 50 degrees when I went five innings last Tuesday and it was plenty chilly this afternoon. So far I haven't really got warmed up."

Diz said he hoped to pitch one of the games against the Phillies who follow the Bees into Wrigley field. Not because the Phillies are lowly, he said, but because the Philadelphia team is the only one which beat him in the National league last season.

MICHIGAN TRACK TEAM TO BE LED BY SCHWARZKOPF

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 21.—[Special.]—Ralph Schwarzkopf, Big Ten two mile champion from Saginaw, Mich., today was elected captain of the 1940 University of Michigan track team.

Schwarzkopf succeeds Bill Watson, who scored his third successive triple Saturday as Michigan won its third straight Big Ten team title with a total of 64¾ points.

DIZZY ALLOWS ONLY 3 HITS, NO WALKS IN DEBUT

His Mates Back Him with 8 Safeties.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Dizzy Dean made his first start of the year yesterday in Wrigley field. And what a start and what a finish! A three hitter it was as the great man and his happy fellow Cubs beat the Boston Bees, 4 to 0, before 21,684, who waited out a downpour to see the stirring spectacle.

The great performance was spectacular for more reasons than those supplied by the fact that it was a great comeback show by a sterling athlete so many folks have voted all washed up. It was the best job of pitching the Cubs have had all year and the only shutout accomplished by the champs. It was the best pitching the Cubs have seen either on their side or their opponents', excepting, of course, that one hitter of Lon Warneke's in Wrigley field April 29.

Three Harmless Singles.

All three hits off Diz were singles and the third was a scratch which blossomed into a putout before Dean had to pitch again. Debs Garms singled with two out in the first inning and Buddy Hassett promptly ended the inning with a tap to Glenn Russell.

The next hit was by Hassett with one out in the seventh. He went to second while Diz was throwing out Al Simmons. Ralph Hodgin started a grounder toward center, which Steve Mesner knocked down. The effort went for a single, but Bill Herman picked up the ball and, observing that Hassett had rounded third, threw to Hack. Stan tagged Hassett as he sought to return to third, retiring the side. Hassett, by the way, was the only Bee to reach third, and his stay there was less than a split second.

He Has Control.

Diz walked no one. He had a three and two count on Rabbit Warstler, first batsman of the game, after which Warstler flied to Leiber. Diz never let the count get to three and two again. The great man did not go in for strikeouts to any great extent. He struck out Garms his second time up just as punishment for that single Garms made the first time up. And he whiffed Jim Turner simply as a salute to a fellow artist who pitched shutout ball himself till the Cubs broke loose in the sixth.

The Cubs made eight hits in all and Dizzy rounded his happy day by making his team's last hit and last run, both off Johnny Lanning in the seventh.

For a long time it appeared that Diz might have to pitch shutout ball interminably to accomplish so much as a tie. But when the lads did bust through in the sixth they did it in a flashy style harmonious with Diz's superb show. The only pass Turner gave out was handed Hack at the start of the sixth. A sacrifice by Herman followed, then successive doubles by Augie Galan, Hank Leiber, and Joe Marty gave the Cubs three runs. When Hack scored on Galan's double, Diz announced he had enough for victory purposes. And that's the way it turned out.

Cub Stock Goes Up.

Dean's showing, and under unfavorable weather conditions, was a great lift to the pennant hopes of the Cubs, of course. There were other cheering elements, not the least of which was the fact that Marty, who did not make his fifth hit of the season until Saturday, cracked out a single along with that rally double. Joe's .082 was one of the main rea-

ANDROFF, BROWN MEET TONIGHT IN MARIGOLD RING

Nyberg Boxes Howell in Preliminary.

Frank Androff, Minneapolis heavyweight, will try to snap Clarence Brown's string of three victories in a ten round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Androff will be making his first Chicago appearance in four years. After winning his first four starts in a tournament being sponsored by Chicago Stadium at that time, Frank failed to pass a medical examination and the Illinois boxing commission refused him permisssion to appear in his fifth contest. Under suspension since then, indications are he will be reinstated when he weighs in at the commission this afternoon. Tonight's survivor will meet Alex Kettles in the club June 5 or 12.

George Nyberg, welterweight of Port Arthur, Ont., will be in quest of his eighteenth triumph in nineteen fights in a five round secondary feature against Tommy Howell, Danville, Ill. Matches of four rounds bring together Ernie Valente, Milwaukee light heavyweight, and Pete Atkins; George Kontopolis, former novice Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Norman Roth and Bob Ray, Danville heavyweight, and Marion Mosley, protégé of Sam Buxbaum.

Another show this evening will feature amateurs in the Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street. The scheduled exhibition between Johnny Coulon, former bantamweight title holder, and Battling Nelson, the old lightweight ruler, has been postponed indefinitely. Nelson is unable to participate because of a shoulder injury, suffered during a workout with Sam Tarantasula, who weighs 200 pounds, in Hegeswisch last week. . . . Phil Gruber and Cowboy Ackley have been paired in a preliminary to the wrestling match between Joe Savoldi and Jack [Bad Boy] Brown in Marigold arena tomorrow. Brown also wrestles Jack Ross on the program headed by Savoldi and Eddie Slake in the outdoor arena at Cermak and 54th avenue on Wednesday.

Because he is matched to meet Gunnar Barlund, heavyweight of Finland, in a ten round headliner in the Stadium June 8, Tony Musto has canceled his bout with Eddie Simms in Cleveland Friday. The Stadium and Bill Rand will be co-promoters of the Barlund-Musto bout. Billy Burke, Stadium official, said the top price for tickets will be $3.30, as compared with the $5 charged for ringside at the Bob Pastor-Maurice Strickland card two months ago. Rand is the first of several promoters to accept the Stadium's invitation to hold shows. Irving Schoenwald and Harold Steinman are among others who offered bids.

Burke spoke to Stainman, representative of Johnny Paychek, about having Paychek meet Max Schmeling in the building, but it is believed Paychek will first face the Musto-Barlund winner.

Anglers! Fish Are Hitting in These Lakes

BY BOB BECKER.

Thousands of Illinois fishermen are planning trips into Wisconsin for the Decoration day week-end. Some of the north woods camps report that they already have reservations for a full house next week-end and on through May 30.

With the Wisconsin muskalunge season due to open next Thursday, many of the boys who like to tangle with the big ones will get their first chance to toss lures at old Esox Immaculatus this coming week-end.

Pick Your Spot, Folks.

For Chicago fishermen and other vacationists who want a Wisconsin outing not too far from home, here are some suggestions:

Lake Koshkonong, Wis. . . . This lake, once famous for its canvasback shooting, is about seven miles long and several miles wide. The state has been working hard to improve this lake, taking out the carp and rough fish and restocking it with pickerel or northern pike, wall-eyes, some bass, and panfish. Several years ago muskies were planted here. Koshkonong is about 110 miles northwest of Chicago. The key towns near it are Fort Atkinson and Edgerton.

Kegonsa and Waubesa lakes . . . These lakes are approximately 120 to 130 miles from Chicago. Kegonsa is about six miles from Stoughton, Wis. Waubesa is closer to Madison than Kegonsa.

State Restocks Them.

Both are good sized lakes and the state has spent considerable time and money to restock them. Several months ago the conservation commission made test hauls in Waubesa, one haul netting 15,000 crappies and another 6,000 white bass. During the three years of improvement work on these two lakes the state has taken out of Waubesa an average of 400 pounds of carp per acre and 175 pounds per acre from Kegonsa.

These lakes, if fished right, should produce for the angler who wants some fun with wall-eyes, crappies, and other panfish, and white bass. Besides the fishing the drive into this part of Wisconsin is attractive.

A Lively Spot.

Rock Lake, Wis. . . . This lake, which is about one and a half miles long and one mile wide, is at the edge of the town of Lake Mills, approximately 125 miles from Chicago. There is pretty fair bluegill, pickerel, bass, and crappie fishing, and some wall-eyes. You are apt to pick up the latter on two bars in the center of the lake. There is a tourist camp on the lake and good camp sites are available. Although fished pretty hard, as you might expect of any southern Wisconsin lake, this spot is a pretty good bet for some fun.

United States' 40 Goal Team Triumphs, 11-8

New York, May 21.—(AP)—The first 40 goal team in polo history, which likely will represent the United States in the Westchester cup international matches against Great Britain June 4, played a test match today and had a hard time winning.

The combination of four ten-goal players, Mike Phipps, Cecil Smith, Tommy Hitchcock, and Stewart Iglehart, pulled out an 11 to 8 victory over a pickup team listed as the Whites. The Guest brothers, Winston and Raymond, who still hope to win places on the international team, rode at No. 3 and back for the Whites and performed brilliantly. Raymond Guest not only handled his defensive duties excellently but scored four goals.

Phipps and Smith each scored four times, Iglehart two, and Hitchcock one. Winston Guest made two goals for the Whites and Peter Grace Jr., at No. 1, also scored twice. Terence Preece, at No. 2, completed the losing team.

The British team also won a practice tilt, beating an Anglo-American side known as Long Island, 9 to 7. The invaders shifted their regular lineup, sending Gerald Balding from No. 3 to No. 2 and dropping Aidan Roark back to the No. 3. Balding scored three goals. Bob Skene, No. 1, who tallied four times, and Eric Tyrrell-Martin at back retained their positions.

The Long Island team was composed of two British spares, Hesketh Hughes, No. 1, and John Lakin, No. 3, with Elbridge Gerry at No. 2 and Billy Post at back.

GERMAN DOUBLES TEAM WINS TO LEAD POLAND, 2-1

WARSAW, May 21.—(AP)—With isolated groups of young students occasionally showing an unfriendly attitude but with the crowd generally much quieter than during previous games, Germany defeated Poland in doubles today to take a 2-1 lead in their Davis cup second round match.

The German combination of Heinrich Henkel and George Metaxa overwhelmed Ignacy Tloczynski and Hebda, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2. Two singles events are yet to be played.

The bleacher throngs demonstrated against the Germans yesterday because of an announcement that the doubles match would be delayed until Monday to give Henkel more rest. The decision to play it today as scheduled was made last night after the problem had been carried to the Davis cup committee at London.

INDIA WINS DOUBLES.

BRUSSELS, May 21.—(AP)—India's Davis cup tennis team trimmed Belgium's lead today in their European zone play by winning the doubles as Y. Savior and Ghaus Mohammed defeated Gheelan and Van Deneynde, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. That made the match standing 2 to 1 in favor of Belgium, its two victories coming in yesterday's singles.

GARFIELD NINE WINS 3D STRAIGHT B'NAI B'RITH GAME

The Garfield Park No. 1 team won its third straight game in the Mogen Dovid division of the B'nai B'rith Youth organization softball tournament yesterday in Grant park.

The west side team beat South Side No. 1, 12 to 2, and then drew a bye in the second round. Lake View No. 1 continued to dominate the Menorah division, winning a double-header. Scores:

RED SOX, 8; TIGERS, 3.

Boston, Mass., May 21.—(AP)—Lefty Grove, ancient nemesis of the Detroit Tigers, pitched the Boston Red Sox to an 8 to 3 triumph over the Tigers today before 24,000, ending Tommy Bridges' five game winning streak.

It was not his nine hit pitching performance, however, that gave the 39 year old southpaw the most satisfaction. Coming up first against Relief Pitcher Alton Benton in the seventh, Grove—who didn't make a single extra base hit during all of last season—hit a home run high into the left field screen on the first ball Benton pitched. HOLD FUNERAL WEDNESDAY FOR JOSEPH F. CARR

Columbus, O., May 21.—(AP)—Messages of condolence today poured into the home of Joseph F. Carr, whose death late yesterday removed from the sports world one of its outstanding figures.

Hundreds of telegrams and messages were received, many of them from sports leaders who planned to attend funeral services here Wednesday for the 58 year old president of the National Football league and promotional director of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues.

Carl Storck of Dayton, vice president and treasurer of the National Football league, became temporary head of the league pending action of directors at their July meeting in Pittsburgh. Storck declined to speculate on Carr's probable successor.

Carr was stricken with a heart ailment. Survivors besides his widow include two children, Joseph Jr. and Mary, and three brothers, John Carr of Chicago, and Michael and Edward, both of Columbus.

STAPP QUALIFIES FOR AUTO RACE; THEN IT RAINS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 21.—(AP)—A downpour flooded the Indianapolis motor speedway today and only Babe Stapp of Los Angeles made a complete qualifying run. He became the sixteenth starter for the 500 mile race May 30. He drove the ten mile test at 125 miles an hour.

Kelly Petillo of Los Angeles made a try just at dusk, but shut off on his first lap, claiming the track was too slick on the north curves for high speed. Petillo, winner of the 1935 race, still has two more qualifying trials.

MOTORCYCLE ON LOOSE INJURES SIX SPECTATORS

Lincoln, Ill., May 21.—(AP)—A speeding, driverless motorcycle plunged 20 yards through a crowd of spectators at a motorcycle race here today, seriously injuring six persons and bruising several others.

The accident occurred after Joe Bisse of Rockford lost control of his machine and was thrown to the track. The speeding motorcycle left the track and crashed into the crowd. Bisse escaped uninjured. The six most seriously injured, all suffering severe cuts and bruises, were treated at a hospital.

Dean Limits Bees to Three Hits; Wins, 4-0

sons the Cubs were in the National league sink in the last hitting tables made public in yesterday morning's papers. With Diz pitching and Marty hitting, things are going to get better fast, even with all the sprinting by the Cardinals and the Reds, the two teams ahead of the champs in the league standings.

Though it was Dean's first start in the National League season, it was not, as you perhaps remember, his first pitching of the season.

Last Tuesday, with the Cubs trailing the Dodgers, 12 to 0, Diz gave his $185,000 arm a tryout. He shut out the Dodgers in the last five innings of the game, allowing three hits, striking out five and walking none. His league record to date, therefore, is 14 innings pitched in which he has allowed no runs, six hits, [five singles and a scratch double] and has walked none. In the span only two runners have reached third and only two others have got as far as second.

Here's the way the scoreless tie business ended in the big Cub sixth. Hack walked on five pitches and advanced on Herman's sacrifice. Galan then doubled along the right field line, scoring Hack. Leiber doubled to left, scoring Galan, and Hank got home when Marty bounced a double off the left field wall. Lanning replaced Turner. G. Russell was safe and Marty reached third on Miller's throw past first. Mesner popped to Hassett and Mancuso flied to Simmons.

Dz himself added the Cubs' fourth run in the seventh. He opened the inning with a single to center and took second on Hack's sacrifice. Hack reached first when Lanning juggled the ball. Dean and Hack advanced on Herman's sacrifice, after which Galan was given an intentional pass to load the bases. Dean scored and the others advanced on a wild pitch. Leiber and Marty struck out. That wound up the day's scoring.

Lee Seeks Sixth Victory Today; Opposes Boston

Big Bill Lee will go after his sixth victory this afternoon in the second game of the Boston-Cub series in Wrigley field. Danny MacFayden is slated to face the Cubs with the possibility of Lou Fette getting the call.

The start of yesterday's game was delayed thirty-three minutes because of the downpour which reached its peak about 2:00 o'clock. To have the grounds ready at 3:33 was indeed a ground keeping miracle.

The rain stopped shortly before 3 o'clock, but the temperature dropped wickedly and fog hung over Wrigley field.

Al Simmons, former White Sox star, was presented with a portable radio. The presentation was made by Mickey Finley, little bat boy pal of Al's Sox days.

Badgers Bar Hawkeye Path to Big 10 Title

Wisconsin's baseball team is Iowa's only barrier to the Big Ten championship.

Iowa, now leading the league with seven victories in nine games, must face Wisconsin twice next week in the final two games on the conference schedule.

The Hawkeyes moved into the top spot last week with a pair of victories over Northwestern, 1 to 0 and 7 to 3, their pitchers allowing the Wildcats only seven hits in two games. The games also removed the Wildcats from contention for the title, dropping them from third to fifth.

Hoosier's Finish Card.

Indiana completed its schedule last week by overwhelming Ohio State, 11 to 2 and 14 to 2, putting the Hoosiers within a half game of first place but without another chance to catch the leaders.

Purdue's erstwhile leaders fell before Illinois, 1 to 0, in a single game, the second contest being rained out Saturday. The defeat dropped Purdue from a first place tie to a third place deadlock with Michigan. The Boilermakers have two games yet to play but have no chance to overtake Iowa.

Maroons Have Bad Week.

Michigan, one of the few teams which had a real chance at the title, lost an opportunity to stick close to Iowa last week when Minnesota split with the Wolverines. Minnesota won Friday's game, 5 to 4, and lost the next day, 5 to 1. Should Michigan win all its remaining four games it still would trail Iowa by a few percentage points.

Lyons and Sox Whip Senators in Tenth, 3 to 2

vich, but tumbled into trouble immediately and it cost him a run. He yielded Owen a pass. Marvin hustled down to second while Tresh was being thrown out by Lewis. Lyons fired a line single over first base and Owen scored, but only because Wright's throw in was yards wide of the plate.

The Senators notched their first hit off Lyons to open the third—Estalella beating out a scratch to Owen, but a strikeout and a double play followed. The next hit was Lyons' second single with two out in the fourth and this bit of base running undoubtedly tired him, for the home half in which he was slapped for the tying run. This began with a single to center by Case. Lewis was thrown out and Wasdell got to second on his tap, which resulted in a run down of Case. Then Wright singled to center and Wasdell counted.

Mike Runs Wild.

Kreevich banged a liner over first to inaugurate the sixth and Mike has had so few chances on the bases that he couldn't stop himself. He kept on going until he had reached second, but he was safe only by a matter of inches. Owen swung at the first pitch and fouled to Ferrell. Tresh whistled a single between short and third, Kreevich carrying home the run that put the Sox ahead for a few minutes.

After getting two strikes on Krakauskas at the start of Washington's sixth, Lyons served one of those soft boiled pitches and was surprised by a single to center. Case also singled to center and Krakauskas took third, helped there by a momentary fumble on the part of Kreevich. The latter then dashed back hurriedly into the distant right center field corner for Lewis' fly, Krakauskas scoring the tying run.

Knott Will Try to Get Started for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 21.—Jack Knott, whose baseball life has not been very happy thus far this season, will try again tomorrow in the second of the Sox series with the Senators. "The worst that can happen to him is to be knocked out again," remarked Manager James Dykes in expressing a wish that he could uncover four fellows able to start in turn. Joe Haynes will be the Washington choice.

The famous old sardine press box in the local park is no more. The cramped space in which writers used to skin their knees, scuff their new $15 shoes, and write while balancing themselves on two legged chairs, has been replaced by an up to date double rowed affair along the back of the upper deck of the grand stand. Owners of the Cleveland club are requested to take notice.

3 KILLED, 4 HURT IN SPECTACULAR 3 TRAIN WRECK

2 Freights Crash and 3d Plows Into Them.

Piqua, O., May 21.—(AP)—Three freight trains piled up in a spectacular wreck near here today. Three trainmen were killed and four others injured.

One freight train stopped to take on coal. The second crashed into the rear of the first. The locomotive of the second train was derailed and wreckage of freight cars scattered over both tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad double track system.

A fast fruit train en route from Chicago to New York and drawn by two locomotives had orders to pass both slow trains on the other track at high speed. It piled into the wreckage, scattering débris for several hundred feet. The first locomotive of this train leaped up on top of the locomotive of the second train and then rolled back down.

Wild Car Crushes Trainman.

Cars were derailed for a half mile as the wreckage piled up at the center of the smash. One trainman tried to crawl away and a wild box car rolled down into the ditch and crushed him to death as he tried to climb a fence.

The dead were Harry J. Johnson, 45 years old, fireman; Fred L. Trickfer, 45, engineer, and Leonard Schaefer, 44, flagman, all of Logansport, Ind. It was Schaeffer who was killed while trying to leap over a fence.

The injured: J. C. Murdock, 46 years old, Columbus, O., fireman, condition critical; Gordon Pinney, 50, Columbus, O., engineer, condition fair; Charles Bryan, Logansport, Ind., crewman, condition fair; Frank L. Messersmith, 58, Logansport, Ind., engineer, condition fair.

Engineer Pinned in Cab.

The wreck occurred at Bradford, 15 miles west of Piqua and 20 miles east of the Ohio-Indiana line, where the Chicago and Indianapolis divisions of the Pennsylvania railroad join.

Messersmith, engineer of the second locomotive of the fruit train, was pinned in his cab and rescuers worked two hours with metal cutting torches to release him. His leg was crushed and he suffered burns.

Falls Dead in Ancient Grave as He Examines Skeletons

Vinalhaven, Me., May 21.—(AP)—While examining one of three Indian skeletons believed by Dr. V. H. Shields, Vinalhaven amateur archæologist, to be between 400 and 800 years old, Gust Carlson, 58 years old, fell dead tonight in an ancient grave on nearby Lane's Island. His falling body shattered the best preserved skeleton. Death was due to natural causes. The skeletons were found by a youth digging for flint arrowheads, believed left centuries ago by Penobscot Indians.

TRAIN KILLS PORTLY STRANGER.

The body of a man, about 55 years old, weighing 200 pounds, was found early yesterday on the Rock Island railroad right of way at 95th street and Houston avenue. He had been struck by a train.

10,000 Jews in Rumania Protest Plan for Palestine

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 21.—(AP)—Ten thousand Jews, sobbing and wailing, gathered in the Jewish quarter here today to protest "injustices" of the new British plan for Palestine. The crowd, led by the chief rabbi of Bucharest, chanted, "May my arm wither if I forget Jerusalem." Trafic was tied up for several hours in the district. The meeting itself was orderly.

JEWS BURN COPY OF PLAN FOR ARAB RULED HOLY LAND

5,000 Shout "We Will Not Surrender."

JERUSALEM, May 21—(AP)—Five thousand Jews amid shouts of "we are not surrendering" today burned a copy of the British white paper [government report] which announced a plan to set up an Arab-dominated state in Palestine.

The well ordered demonstration in a high school courtyard and disciplined street parades during the day were in marked contrast to the violence which greeted the white paper's announcement last Wednesday. One person was killed and 114 injured in clashes with police on Thursday.

Passive Resistance.

British troops and police took extreme precautions against recurrance of the disorders, although there have been indications the Jews intended to pursue a policy of passive resistance rather than violence against the new British policy.

Today, a crowd of more than 3,000 Jewish youths remained at the scene of Thursday's rioting, singing the Jewish national anthem "Hattikvah" and shouting "down with the British government." However, their activities did not cause any untoward incidents.

The police and military refrained from interferring and the crowd later thinned out to a few hundred.

The Jerusalem press said Jewish women would stage additional demonstrations tomorrow.

Hand Back Decorations.

A number of prominent Jews showed their bitterness toward Britain's plans, meanwhile, by handing back decorations received during the past twenty years.

The Jewish national council at a meeting today recommended this six point noncoöperation program to Palestine Jewry:

1. Training of young Jews for any emergency.
2. The fostering of home products to replace imports and avoid paying customs duties to Britain.
3. Nonpayment of taxes.
4. Restriction of the use of public services which bear profit.
5. Taking control of bodies such as the all-Jewish Tel Aviv municipality and religious communities away from the government and putting them in Jewish hands.
6. Annulment of Jewish participation in the Jerusalem municipal system which is said to be based on domination of the Arab minority over the Jewish majority.

LEADERS ASSAIL BRITAIN

Great Britain's recent repudiation of Palestine as a Jewish homeland was denounced yesterday by prominent Jewish and Christian leaders. They spoke before more than 5,000 persons at a protest meeting in the Auditorium theater.

Rabbi Solomon Goldman, president of the Zionist organization in America, criticized Great Britain for attempting to propagandize America as a possible war ally.

Mayor Kelly, one of the principal speakers, said he, too, joined in protesting England's action in Palestine. He called the Zionist movement one of the greatest experiments in modern times.

Speaking as a citizen, the Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Wakefield, president of the Chicago Church federation, declared himself opposed to Britain's Palestine policy, which he said contained problems of race, diplomacy, and expediency.

Girl, 13, and Brother, 11, Run Away After Scolding

The Summerdale police yesterday were asked to search for Lorraine McCleese, 13 years old, and her brother, Albert, 11, who disappeared from their home at 5538 Winthrop avenue Saturday. The girl was a seventh grade pupil in the Swift elementary school at 5900 Winthrop avenue and her brother was in the sixth grade in the same school. Lloyd McCleese, their father, said he recently scolded them for not making higher grades in school.

CREMATE BODY OF J. M. PARKER, ONCE GOVERNOR

Pass Christian, Miss., May 21.—(AP)—Private funeral services were held today for John M. Parker Sr., 76 years old, former governor of Louisiana, who died last night at his country home here.

Parker, vice presidential running mate with Theodore Roosevelt in 1916 on a Progressive ticket which collapsed before the November elections, had been ill for months. Services were conducted by the Rev. Warwick Aiken, rector of Trinity Episcopal church. The body was to be cremated.

Gov. Parker's administration was marked by his investigation of the Ku Klux Klan outrages at Mer Rouge and Bastrop, where five men were kidnaped and whipped, the bodies of two being found mutilated and submerged in the waters of Lake La Fourche.

Gov. Parker was born at Bethel Church, Miss., on March 16, 1863. The family moved to New Orleans in 1871. He became one of the leading cotton brokers of the south, his prominence being attested by his selection at the age of 30 to preside over the affairs of the board of trade. He was elected president of the New Orleans Cotton exchange four years later.

HUNT TORTURE BANDIT IN KILLING OF FORD WORKER

Detroit, Mich., May 21.—(AP)—The trussed body of an elderly widower, who apparently had been tortured with burning cigarets before being slain, was found lying in the living room of his home today.

The victim was William M. Reigart, 63 years old, a Ford motor car employé. Police Chief Dan Patch of suburban Highland Park said robbery apparently was the motive.

The following clews were listed by detectives: Yellow mud on the rug, apparently from the slayer's shoes; the ransacked house which indicated the slayer sought some particular loot [$400 was found by police in Reigart's ironing board] and the fact that a neighbor reported seeing a prowler in Reigart's yard about 9 p. m. yesterday.

Either strangulation or blows on the head could have caused Reigart's death, according to Deputy Coroner Foster Knobloch.

P. K. RHINELANDER DIES; FIND BODY IN RENTED ROOM

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Philip Kip Rhinelander, 43 years old, member of a socially prominent family, was found dead from natural causes today in an uptown furnished room near the Rhinelander apartment in upper Park avenue. Rhinelander was a brother of the late Leonard Kip Rhinelander, who figured in sensational litigation over his marriage to a West Indian Negro's daughter.

Philip Rhinelander's widow, the former Helen G. Alexander, was reported vacationing in Bermuda. They had two daughters. He was a Harvard graduate of the class of 1918.

Leonard Kip Rhinelander died of pneumonia three years ago in comparative retirement after being divorced from the former Alice Jones, the Negro's daughter, who now lives on the Rhinelander money settled on her.

AMERICA LEAPS TO SECOND RANK IN SHIPBUILDING

Yards Are Busiest Since War Days.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—(AP)—National Maritime day tomorrow will find the United States back to second rank in shipbuilding and fast bidding for her old high position among the maritime nations.

Admiral Land tells long range aim.

By presidential proclamation tomorrow has been set aside to commemorate the first crossing of the Atlantic by a steamship, the Savannah, 120 years ago. But in maritime circles it will be a day of celebration, too, because of the greatest activity in shipyards since world war days.

Under the impetus of the maritime commission's program of replacing obsolescent tonnage and building still more ships, the United States has leaped within a few months from fourth to second position in shipbuilding.

Tonnage Up 40 Per cent.

Lloyd's register of shipping shows that from December, 1938, to late March of this year there was a 40 per cent increase in tonnage under construction in American yards, the output at the end of March being 420,931 tons.

Only Great Britain and Ireland, classed as one unit, outranked this country, turning out 596,903 tons at the end of March.

The long range program of the commission is designed—in the words of Admiral Emory S. Land, its chairman—"to establish a fleet commensurate with the position of the United States as a major power."

The commission proposes to build, over a ten year period, 500 merchant ships, some of them designed for easy conversion into auxiliaries for wartime service. The first of these ships, a tanker, went down the ways early this year.

1938 Quota Exceeded.

In 1938 the commission exceeded slightly the annual quota for new construction it set under its ten year program, awarding contracts for fifty-one vessels. So far this year it has awarded fourteen.

Ten vessels, five tankers, and five cargo vessels, already have been launched. Either actually on the ways or about ready for keel laying are fifty-six other ships.

The commission will celebrate the marine birthday with ceremonies at the navy yard tomorrow. The merchant marine training ship American Seaman, a steamer, will be formally commissioned. In the yard to take part in the celebration is another training ship of far different lines—the full rigged Joseph Conrad, used to train sailors in the handling of sailing ships.

Expect Buying to Halt Drop in Steel Rate

Heavy buying of sheets and strip is expected to retard the declining trend of steel production and possibly turn the rate moderately upward this week, the magazine Steel stated yesterday. It said buying was induced by recent steel price slashing.

The magazine said that "a measure of stability has returned to flat-rolled steel prices, but largely for the same reason that the fire goes out after the house burns down. Consumers already have covered future needs and are out of the market, hence the pressure for shaded prices has lifted."

Other Business Steady.

On the other hand, Steel continued, business not influenced by price concessions has been fairly steady lately, with steel consumption in some districts tending slightly upward. Sales out of warehouses are steady or higher, compared with a month ago, despite some hesitancy occasioned by the break in mill prices.

Motor companies are proceeding steadily with tool and die work for 1940 models. Heavy shipments of steel for the new cars will not be required for a number of weeks, however.

Rail Market Is Slow.

Railroad steel markets are slow, with few inquiries for equipment or track material. Some shops which closed during the coal mine suspension are reopening.

Steel making last week dropped 1½ points to 45 per cent of capacity, bringing the rate to a new low for the year.

Steel scrap continues quiet. A price reduction at Pittsburgh lowered the scrap composite 16 cents to $13.96 last week, the lowest price since last October.

TRUST INDENTURE BILL IS CRITICIZED IN REPORT TO BAR

Some provisions of the pending Barkley trust indenture bill were criticized yesterday in a report of the Chicago Bar association's committee on administration of the bankruptcy law.

[A trust indenture is a contract between a borrowing corporation, a trustee, and the holders of bonds issued under the contract.]

The committee said uncertainty and delay would result from the provision requiring that all indentures be passed upon by the Securities and Exchange commission. It also opposed the section which would permit the SEC to exempt from the Barkley act issues of $1,000,000 or less. The committee said a substantial portion of the losses on corporate real estate bonds involved issues of less than $1,000,000. It added that of issues exceeding $1,000,000 a large part already are adequately regulated.

The report also said the bill "will drive the trust indenture business to New York, because corporate trustees in smaller cities will find it difficult to qualify."

NATIONAL C. OF C. OFFERS PROGRAM FOR TAX REVISION

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special.]—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is preparing a tax revision program for submission to congress. The chamber will propose enactment of "a fair revenue law, designed to endure for a period of years, so as to remove the constant threat and annoyance of frequently changing tax rates and policies."

"The proposed law," the chamber said, "should be developed for the primary purpose of producing revenue. Punitive and reform provisions should be avoided.

"Reasonable provision should be made for carrying operating losses forward to succeeding years. More equitable and realistic treatment should be accorded capital gains and losses, particularly those of corporations. Annoying administrative difficulties should be avoided.

"Corporate taxation should be simplified, discriminations should be removed and the remnants of the undistributed corporate profits tax should be eliminated."

PRICES OF SPOT COTTON CLIMB ON LIGHT SUPPLY

New York, May 21.—(AP)—Spot cotton and old crop future deliveries moved up sharply last week while new crop deliveries showed little change.

On the New York Cotton exchange the old May delivery soared 22 points on the last day of trading in that delivery, Tuesday, and July made net gains for the week of 25 points. New crop deliveries showed net declines for the week of 3 to 9 points.

Strength of spot cotton and old crop future deliveries was due to the shortage of cotton in commercial channels, analysts said. Southern shippers have been forced to go to borrowing growers for equities in loan cotton to fill their sales to mills. Borrowing growers have been slow to repossess and sell loan cotton except at profits of around $2.00 a bale in many cases.

The Commodity Credit corporation has reported only about 47,000 bales of cotton repossessed to date. It was believed, however, the total to which the trade has acquired title is much in excess of that.

WAGE-HOUR HEAD ISSUES RULING ON WORK CONTRACTS

Washington, D. C., May 21.—[Special]—Employers are not required to file copies of their mutual contracts under regulations issued in connection with the wages and hours law, except in cases where the employer relies on the so-called 1,000 hour or 2,000 hour clauses, Elmer F. Andrews, administrator, said today.

Under the law an employer having a contract with a bona fide labor union may employ his employés up to 12 hours a day and 56 hours a week without overtime compensation providing that he does not work such employés more than 1,000 hours within a six month period. The same applies if workers are employed on an annual basis and do not work more than 2,000 hours in any year.

Under a recent regulation issued by Andrews, the filing of copies of such agreements arrived at under section 7 [B] [1] or section 7 [B] [2] of the act was made compulsory. Through a misunderstanding, many employers have sent copies of collective bargaining contracts to Andrews, even though these sections were not involved.

The bonds being offered will be dated June 1, 1939.

A GAIN of over 136,000 since 1933

Tribune net paid total daily circulation during the six-month period ended March 31, 1939, averaged 903,922. This was a gain of 136,640 over the similar period in 1933.

DROUTH PERILS LARGE SECTION OF GRAIN BELT

Fear Yields Below Domestic Needs.

Drouth conditions prevail over a large grain growing area west of the Mississippi river. States which harvested more than 120,000,000 acres of corn, wheat, and other small grains in 1938 are complaining of lack of moisture.

The drouth condition is said to be the worst since the dry years of 1934 and 1936, when production of leading grains fell below normal domestic requirements. Millions of bushels of wheat and corn were imported following the near crop failures in 1934 and 1936.

North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma, and the north Pacific coast are in the drouth area.

Less Rain than Year Ago.

Precipitation since April 1 in these states, as shown by the weather bureau reports, has been materially less than during the same period in 1938 and much below the normal.

The winter wheat crop is reported to be deteriorating in the southwest and west and on the Pacific coast. The spring wheat crop is said to depend on whether soaking rains fall within the next ten days.

Farmers in many sections of the dry states face the loss of crops and pasturage. Hot and dry years have resulted in a plague of grasshoppers, which are said to have destroyed several millions acres of small grain in the northwest.

Production of wheat in the United States this year is expected to fall below domestic requirements, which in the last few years have been about 700,000,000 bushels.
